COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 655.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 655, file folio 1365, entitled, "An Act to repeal the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet Laws eighty-two) entitled 'An act to fix the number and salaries of officers clerks and employes in the State Treasury'".

This bill would repeal the Act of March 31, 1905, P. L. 82, which fixes the number and salaries of employes in the Treasury Department. The Act of 1905 was unquestionably repealed by the Act of June 1, 1915, P. L. 663, which covered exactly the same ground as the Act of 1905 and repealed all acts and parts of acts inconsistent therewith.

No useful purpose is served by enacting legislation to repeal an act which has already been repealed.

For these reasons the bill is not approved

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message, together with the bill, be laid upon the table.

Mr. CHAS. C. A. BALDI, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 542.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 542, file folio 1005, entitled, "An Act to repeal the act approved the sixteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-two), entitled 'An act fixing the salary of the stenographer and typewriter and the two stenographers in the Department of Mines.'"

While I have approved a number of bills repealing obsolete statutes, I desire to take this opportunity of pointing out that no useful purpose is to be served by enacting a law purporting to repeal an act which has unquestionably been repealed by prior legislation.

Such enactments waste the time of the Legislature, and unnecessarily enlarge the pamphlet laws.

The present bill, while not expressly mentioned for repeal therein, was unquestionably repealed by The Administrative Code of 1923 which, in Section 2804, provided that "It is the intention of the General Assembly that this act shall be construed to be inconsistent with and, therefore, to repeal any and all laws of the Commonwealth heretofore enacted fixing the salaries of officers of, and persons connected with or employed in or by, every administrative department, board, commission, bureau, division, or other agency of the State Government, except the Department of the Auditor General and the Treasury Department and the bureaus and divisions thereof."

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message, together with the bill, be laid upon the table.

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 832.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 832, file folio 1053, entitled "An Act to amend article four of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any part thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by adding a section providing for the appropriation of money to fire companies for fire protection."

This bill would permit boards of school directors, without limitation, to contribute money to fire companies, within or without the territorial limits of the district, for protection to school property against fire.

At the present time the Commonwealth refunds to the cities, boroughs and townships of Pennsylvania the tax received from foreign fire insurance companies. The money thus refunded is intended to be used for the assistance of fire companies throughout the State. The annual payments amount to approximately three-quarters of a million dollars.

In my judgment, school funds should not be contributed to outside agencies however laudable may be the purpose of the contribution. The large annual contribution made by the Commonwealth to the fire companies throughout the State is a sufficient answer to any claim that an exception should be made in the case of contributions by school districts to fire companies.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objection of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. D. GLEN MOORE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message, together with the bill, be laid upon the table.

Mr. McCALLISTER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 194.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval House Bill No. 194, file folio 1169, entitled, "An act to amend section eleven of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred sixteen) entitled 'An act regulating the selling offering or exposing for sale of agricultural seeds and mixtures of the same for seeding purposes forbidding the sale of seeds unfit for seeding purposes and providing for the prohibition of such sales by injunction providing for the taking and examination of samples of agricultural seeds by the Secretary of Agriculture and his agents cultural seeds by the Secretary of Agriculture and his agents and the publication of information gained from such examinations providing for the enforcement of the act and providing penalties for its violation" by authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to declare seeds not complying with [illegible] provisions of the act to be a public nuisance."

This bill would amend Section 11 of the Act of April 26, 1921, P. L. 316, by declaring a public nuisance agricultural seeds delivered to consumers in Pennsylvania from sources outside of the State if they do not meet the standards of quality prescribed by the act. It would require any such seeds to be destroyed or returned to the seedsman, dealer or agent from whom they were purchased and it would be obligatory upon the purchaser to satisfy the Secretary of Agriculture that one of these courses had been pursued. In case of the destruction of the seed, there is no provision for the compensation of the owner.

There are several fundamental objections to this bill.

Pennsylvania can not declare defective seed coming into the State from outside sources to be a public nuisance without also declaring similar seed raised in Pennsylvania to be a public nuisance.

Another serious objection to the bill is that in my judgment it is not within the power of the Legislature to declare farm seed a public nuisance. "The word 'nuisance' has a well defined meaning in the law and a thing can not be declared a nuisance by statute and abated as such when in fact it is obviously not a nuisance." United States vs. Cohen, 268, Federal Report 420.

I know of no nuisance in which the courts have sustained an effort to declare as a public nuisance an article which is harmless and which does not cause any annoyance to persons residing in its vicinity or tend to prejudice public health or safety.

The act of 1921 which this bill would amend provides a penalty for its violation and authorizes the courts to grant injunctions at the instance of the Secretary of Agriculture to restrain persons from continued violations.

These remedies seem to be adequate to protect the public and they represent, in my judgment, the extent to which the Legislature can go in enforcing the act without infringing the provisions of the Constitution which protect private property and private rights.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message, together with the bill, be laid upon the table.

Mr. YEAKEL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 264.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 264, file folio 3245, entitled, "An Act to amend sections one and two as amended and sections four five and six of the act approved the twenty-ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twenty-seven) entitled "An act to prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine butterine and other similar products when colored in imitation of yellow butter to provide for license fees to be paid by manufacturers wholesale and retail dealers and by proprietors of hotels restaurants dining-rooms and boarding houses for the manufacture or sale of oleomargarine butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter and to regulate the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine butterine or other similar products not colored in imitation of yellow butter and prevent and punish fraud and deception in such manufacture and sale as an imitation butter and to prescribe penalties and punishment for violations of this act and the means and the method of procedure for its enforcement and regulate certain matters of evidence in such procedure" by extending the provisions thereof to persons who act as agents for the sale of or obtain orders for the delivery of or who handle or distribute oleomargarine butterine or other similar products."

This bill would require agents taking orders in Pennsylvania for oleomargarine to be delivered in Pennsylvania, from sources both within and without the State, to take out the license prescribed by the Act of May twenty-nine, one thousand nine hundred and one, (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred twenty-seven).

Under the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, it is not within the power of this Commonwealth to require a license to be procured for taking orders for articles of commerce to be delivered in Pennsylvania, from sources outside of the Commonwealth. The bill is, therefore, clearly unconstitutional.

For this reason, the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objection of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. YEAKEL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message, together with the bill, be laid upon the table.

Mr. MICHEL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 380.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 380, file folio 219, entitled, "An Act making its a misdemeanor for anyone not duly authorized by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States the American Legion the Disabled American Veterans of the World War to sell or give away the official flower of any of said organizations or solicit or receive contributions by means thereof and fixing penalties."

This bill would render it a criminal offense, punishable by fine or imprisonment or both, for any person not authorized thereto by certain organizations of veterans to sell or give away certain artificial flowers which have been adopted as the official flowers of such organizations, or to solicit or receive contributions by means of such flowers.

The purpose of this bill is unobjectionable. It is aimed to protect the public against fraud, practiced by persons falsely representing themselves as authorized to sell, at certain times of the year, artificial flowers for the purpose of raising funds for certain veterans' organizations.

I should not hesitate to approve a bill properly drawn to prevent abuses of this character.

However, the present bill would render it a criminal offense for any person to give away without any false pretense of any character or to sell certain kinds of artificial flowers to which veterans' organizations have assigned names, such as "Buddy Flower" or "D A V forget-me-not."

Artificial poppies and artificial forget-me-nots cannot be patented or copyrighted. If they could, only Congress could grant such monopolies. And clearly, it is beyond the power of the Legislature to punish as a criminal offense a gift of artificial flowers. Such legislation would be in direct conflict with constitutional rights.

Accordingly, in my judgment, the bill as drawn is beyond the power of the General Assembly to enact.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message, together with the bill, be laid upon the table.

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1017.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 28, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1017, file folio 1071, entitled, An Act to amend section two hundred and seven of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended prohibiting assessors and assistant assessors from being school directors."

This bill is identical with Senate Bill No. 248, which I have this day approved.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

And the question being,

Shall the bill become a law, the objections of His Excellency the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. REYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the message together with the bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate April 1, 1929.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that Senate Bill No. 781, Printer's No. 176, file folio 1195, entitled: "An Act to further amend section eight of the act, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred seventeen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-eight), entitled "An act for the protection of the public health by regulating the possession, control, dealing in, giving away, delivery, dispensing, administering, prescribing, and use of certain drugs, and keeping records thereof; by regulating the use of drugs in the treatment of the drug habit; by providing for the revocation and suspension of licenses of physicians, dentists, veterinarians, pharmacists, druggists, and registered nurses for certain causes, and by providing for the enforcement of this act, and penalties;" providing that the Department of Health may lawfully furnish to the Department of Revenue the list of habitual users of drugs" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. HIMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until to-morrow morning at 11.00 o'clock, in memory of the Honorable George W. Larkin, a former member from Armstrong county.

Mr. McGREGOR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to, and at 11.59 o'clock P. M. the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1929 128th of the General Assembly

Vol. 11 HARRISBURG, TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1929 No. 31

SENATE.

TUESDAY, April 2, 1929.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Arthur H. James), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Shirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou gracious God, we thank Thee for all the blessings Thou dost bestow upon us. Thou dost take a kind and fatherly interest in us, and art always seeking to promote our welfare and happiness.

Thou dost permit the sunlight and the rain to descend upon the just and the unjust alike, and multitudinous are Thy benefactions.

We pray that in all that we do, in all our attitudes toward our fellowmen, we may be Godlike and seek to promote the common welfare; for only in that way can we establish in our minds a true Commonwealth. We realize that those who legislate have it within their power to promote the happiness and welfare and prosperity of their fellow-citizens. In this consciousness and with this motive may all the laws passed by our legislative bodies be made.

As we realize the high ideals of Thy kingdom we also realize our own shortcomings. We pray Thee for forgiveness in our dear Redeemer's name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LAMB, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL SIGNED.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Arthur H. James), announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill has passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 1580, entitled:

An Act fixing the fees of the recorder of deeds in counties of the third and fourth class

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Arthur H. James), in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGES.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 220.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 220, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, (P. L. 83), entitled "An act to provide for the maintenance, care and treatment of the indigent insane in county and local institutions," as amended; increasing the weekly payments and extending the provisions of said act to poor districts.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 563.

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 563, entitled:

An Act to amend section two hundred and five; sections five hundred and six, five hundred and eight, five hundred and forty-three, and one thousand four hundred and six as amended; sections one thousand four hundred and thirty-two, one thousand six hundred and fourteen, and one thousand eight hundred and one; and sections two thousand six hundred and twenty-two and two thousand six hundred and twenty-six as amended of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 597.

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 597, entitled:

An Act providing for the reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers' Colleges; abolishing, reorganizing, or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

HOUSE CONCURS IN RESOLUTION RECALLING FROM THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL No. 781.

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 1, 1929.

Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That Senate Bill No. 781, Printer's No. 176, File Folio 1195, entitled "An Act to further amend Section eight of an act, approved the eleventh day of June, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws, seven hundred fifty-eight), entitled "An act for the protection of the public health by regulating the possession, control, dealing in, giving away, delivery, dispensing, administering, prescribing, and use of certain drugs and keeping records thereof by regulating the use of drugs in the treatment of the drug habit, by providing for the revocation and suspension of licenses of physicians, dentists, veterinarians, pharmacists, druggists, and registered nurses, for certain causes, and by providing for the enforcement of this act and penalties,' providing that the Department of Health may lawfully furnish to the Department of Revenue the list of habitual users of dugs", be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO PROVIDING FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE TO CERTAIN SCHOOL DISTRICTS.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Finance:

In the House of Representatives, February 27, 1929.

Whereas In certain school districts due to the small resources available there is evidence that the school system as established by law is unable to function successfully and some school districts are in actual financial distress therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That it is the sense of the General Assembly that it is the duty of the Commonwealth to provide financial assistance to those school districts which are so financially handicapped and distressed that the functioning of the educational system is seriously interfered with

SENATE BILL No. 53 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS.

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act to amend section five of article three and section seventeen of article four of the act approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, (P. L. 756), entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania, and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith."

with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that Rule 21, which requires amended bills to be noted on the calendar, be in this case dispensed with, and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the amendments made by the House of Representatives to the foregoing bill.

Mr. Mr. FAY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 783, as follows:

An Act to amend sections three and ten section twenty-two as amended and sections twenty-three and twenty-three B to add section twenty-three C and to amend section twenty-five of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and sixteen) entitled "An act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of mortality as a basis for rates of contribution requiring all societies to make annual and other reports and appointing the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process providing penalties for any violations of the act exempting such societies from taxation and certain other societies from its provisions and requiring beneficial associations other than fraternal benefit societies to report to and be supervised by the Insurance Commissioner and repealing existing laws"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section three of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and sixteen) entitled "An act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of mortality as a basis for rates of contribution requiring all societies to make annual and other reports and appointing the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process providing penalties for any violations of the act exempting such societies from taxation and certain other societies from its provisions and requiring beneficial associations other than fraternal benefit societies to report to and be supervised by the Insurance Commissioner and repeal existing laws" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 3 The laws of every such society from and after three years from the date of the passage of this act shall provide that if the stated periodical contributions of the members are insufficient to pay all matured claims in full and to provide for the payment of its benefit fund obligations valued upon a valuation by one of the standards authorized in section twenty-three or section twenty-three B of this act and for the creation and maintenance of the funds required by its laws additional or increased rates of contribution [may] shall be collected from the members to meet such deficiency [Such laws may also provide that] or each certificate shall be charged with it proportion of any deficiency disclosed by the valuation [hereinafter] herein specified with lawful interest thereon

Section 2 That section ten of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 The funds from which benefits shall be paid and the funds from which expenses of the society shall be defrayed shall be derived from regular monthly or other periodical rates of contribution paid by the members of the society and accretions of said funds and no part of any funds set aside for the payment of benefits shall be used for expenses other than expenses incurred in investigating or defending claims against such benefits funds Except as herein otherwise allowed every domestic society shall invest its funds only in securities permitted by the laws of this Commonwealth for the investment of the reserves of life insurance companies Unless the approval of the Insurance Commissioner shall be first obtained in writing no domestic society shall keep or maintain at a place outside of this Commonwealth any securities or other assets except such as are necessary for the collection of current dues and to enable it to comply with the laws of any other State or foreign country for the purpose of transacting business therein

Section 3 That section twenty-two of said act which was amended by the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-three) entitled "An act to amend sections seventeen twenty and twenty-two of an act approved the twentieth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred sixteen) entitled "An act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of morality as a basis for rates of contribution requiring all societies to make annual and other reports and apponting the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process providing penalties for any violations of this act exempting such societies from taxation and certain other societies from its provisions and requiring beneficial associations other than fraternal benefit societies to report to and be supervised by the Insurance Commissioner and repealing existing laws by providing for the practice and procedure to be followed by the Insurance Commissioner in refusing to license any foreign society and in revoking the license of such society and providing for jurisdiction practice and procedure upon appeals from the action of the Insurance Commissioner in such cases" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 22 Before the Insurance Commissioner shall refuse to license any foreign society or shall revoke its authority to do business in this State he shall furnish to such society a concise statement of his reasons for such proposed refusal or revocation and give notice of a time and place of hearing at which such society may show cause why a license should be granted to it or why the license granted to it should not be revoked as the case may be

Upon request made to the Insurance Commissioner by such society he shall issue subpoenas to summon such witnesses as the society may desire to summon and upon the filing of a petition by such society duly verified by oath showing that the testimony of certain persons named therein is competent and relevant to the issues to be heard by the Commissioner and that such persons are outside the State of Pennsylvania he shall appoint a suitable person duly qualified by law to administer oaths as a commissioner to take the testimony of such persons at such place or places specified in the petition as the testimony of such witnesses may be obtained Such testimony shall be taken upon oral examination and cross examination or upon written interrogatories and cross interrogatories as the Insurance Commissioner may determine and when so taken shall be reduced to writing and certified to the Insurance Commissioner by the commissioner so appointed and shall be made a part of the record of such hearing before the Insurance Commissioner The cost of issuing said subpoenas shall be paid to the commissioner by the society

Any notice of hearing required by this act shall be sufficient if sent by registered mail addressed to the society or to its president at its principal office in its home state territory province or county A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before the Insurance Commissioner at any hearing and all testimony taken at such hearings shall be reported stenographically and the completeness and accuracy of the record shall be certified by the Insurance Commissioner

All decisions rulings and findings of the Insurance Commissioner made under this act together with a statement of his reasons therefor shall be reduced to writing and filed in his office and he shall serve a copy thereof upon the society by registered mail addressed to the society or its president at its principal office in its home state territory province or country and the action of the Insurance Commissioner shall be reviewable upon appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County in the following manner

Any Society aggrieved by any decision ruling or finding of the Insurance Commissioner may file within thirty days thereafter in the court of common pleas of Dauphin County a petition against the commissioner officially as defendant alleging therein in brief detail the action and decision complained of and praying for a reversal thereof Thereupon a summons shall issue returnable in ten days and shall be served with a copy of the petition upon the Insurance Commissioner On or before the return day the commissioner shall file an answer in which he shall allege by way of defense the grounds of his decision He shall also on or before the return day of such summons certify to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County the record of the proceedings to which the petition refers Such record shall include the testimony taken thereon the findings of fact and conclusions if any made by the commissioner based upon such testimony a copy of all notices and statements of reasons issued and served by the commissioner in the proceedings and a copy of the decision ruling or finding of the commissioner with his statement of reasons which the petition calls upon the court to reverse The cost of preparing and certifying such record shall be paid to the commissioner by the petitioner and taxed as part of the costs in the case to be paid as directed by the court upon the final determination of the case

Upon the filing of the commissioner's answer the case before the court of common pleas of Dauphin County shall be at issue without further pleadings and upon application of either party made thereafter the case shall be advanced and heard without further delay Mere technical irregularities in the procedure of the commissioner shall be disregarded

Such appeal shall not be supersedeas nor stay further proceedings by the Insurance Commissioner unless otherwise ordered by the court of common pleas of Dauphin County upon such terms and conditions as said court shall determine and then only in the case of an appeal from a decision ruling or finding of the commissioner revoking the authority of any such society to do business.

The case shall be heard upon the record certified to the court by the commissioner Additional testimony shall not be taken by the court but the court may in proper cases remit the record of the commissioner for the taking of further testimony

From the decision of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as in other cases

In the case of any appeal or other proceeding for review heretofore taken from the decision of the Insurance Commissioner refusing to license any such society or revoking its authority to do business and now pending and undetermined in any court of this Commonwealth the court may make an appropriate order remanding the decision ruling or finding appealed from the Insurance Commissioner with directions to proceed in conformity with the provisions of this act and the making of such order shall restore the status of the appellant society as it was before the making of the decision ruling or finding appealed from

[Nothing contained in this section or in sections sixteen or twenty of this act shall however be taken or construed as preventing any such society from continuing in good faith all contracts made in this Commonwealth during the time such society was legally authorized to transact business herein]

Upon the revocation of the authority of any such foreign society to do business in this Commonwealth for the reason that the valuation of its certificates as hereinbefore provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted asses is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall reinsure all its business and contracts then in force in this Commonwealth within a reasonable time thereafter in such manner as shall be satisfactory to the Insurance Commissioner

Section 4 That section twenty-three of the said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23 Every society transacting business under this act shall annually on or before the first day of March file with the Insurance Commissioner in such form as may require a statement under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers of its transactions for the calendar year standing on that date and shall include therein all accrued liability under unpaid claims where notice was received by the society at its home office before the end of such calendar year No society shall be required to include in such report any claim or claims notice of which had been received by the society at its home office before the end of such year. It shall also furnish such other information as the Insurance Commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society

In addition to the annual report herein required each society shall annually report to the commissioner a valuation of its benefit fund obligations in force on December thirty-first last preceding excluding those entered into within the year for which the report is filed in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current expenses Such report of valuation shall show as contingent liabilities the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation at not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report less such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and as contingent assets the present mid-year value at the same rate of interest of the future net contributions provided in its constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected

In lieu of the above valuation any society at its option may show the net value of its benefit fund obligations subject to valuation at the rate of interest as hereinbefore provided and said net value when computed in the case of monthly contributions may be the means of the terminal value for the end of the preceding and of the current certificate years from which said tabular values shall be deducted such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and in addition there may be deducted the present worth of the probable future annual savings in death losses as specified in the preceding paragraph

Every such valuation report shall include as a contingent liability an estimate made by or on behalf of the society of the probable future payments under unpaid claims notice of which was received by the society at its home office before the end of the calendar year covered by the annual report but which has not been approved for payment at the date of such report

Deferred payments or instalments of claims whether involving a life contingency or not shall be included in the valuation report as contingent liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or instalments are thereafter to be paid All such liability shall be the present worth of such future payments or instalments at the average rate of interest earned by the society during the five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report

Each valuation report shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary or at the request and expense of the society verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home State of the society and shall be filed with the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of June succeeding the submission of the last preceding annual report

The minimum standard of valuation for all benefit fund obligations except for disability and dependent benefits shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality hereinbefore referred to or at the option of the society by any other standard table or a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with an interest assumption of not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during the five calendar years preceding such annual report

Every valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep a separate account of the same in its said valuation report shall charge as a liability the balance to the credit of such fund or funds at the date of such valuation Where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent and total disability benefits the valuation may be of death benefit only and in such case a separate accounting shall not be required

A report of such valuation with such explanation as the society may deem advisable shall be printed and mailed to each beneficial member of the society not later than July first of each year in lieu thereof may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficial member of the society [The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities]

Section 5 That section twenty-three B of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23B In lieu of the valuation hereinbefore required any society may value its certificates on a basis herein designated "accumulated basis" by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his share of the losses for each year herein designated "cost of insurance" and carrying the balance if any to his credit The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society as applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year which shall be the amount payable at death less the credit to the member

Unless specifically provided in its constitution or laws no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member for any past share of losses extending the contributions and credit If after the first valuation any member's share or losses for any year exceeds his credit including the contributions for the year the contributions shall be increased to cover his share of the losses

Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose Any member may transfer to any plans adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained and on transfer shall be entitled to take such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society Certificates issued rerated or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumption for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth shall be valued on such basis herein designated the "tabular basis"

Provided That if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis

Whenever in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis the total of all costs of insurance provided for any years shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year the deficiency may be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied in the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws

If the laws of the society so provide the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separate for such class as if in an independent society and the required reserve accumulation of such class to set part shall not thereafter be merged with the assets of other classes of the society

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credits the tabular reserve required in the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and adopted by the society shall be filed by the society with each annual report and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for the transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis as any society may provide by or pursuant to its laws nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner and as expressed in its constitution and laws

Section 6 That the said Act be and the same is hereby amended by adding after Section twenty-three B thereof the following new section

Section 23C If the valuation of the certificates as herein before provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted assets is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall within three years from the date of the passage of this act either collect additional assessments or increase the rates of contribution from the members to meet such deficiency or classify its members according to the adequacy of the rates they are contributing and charge each class with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by any such valuation

Section 7 That section twenty-five of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 25 Any person who shall solicit membership for or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not authorized to do business in this

Commonwealth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than [fifty] five hundred nor more than [two hundred] one thousand dollars Any officer agent or employe of any society neglecting or refusing to comply with or violating any of the provisions of this act the penalty for which refusal or violation is not specified shall upon conviction thereof be fined not exceeding [two hundred] one thousand dollars

Section 8 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 894, (House Bill No. 230), on third reading, entitled:

An Act fixing the time when statutory law hereafter enacted shall become effective be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 897, (House Bill No. 922), entitled:

An Act fixing the damages for the conversion of property of fluctuating value.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. President, I desire to say a few words to the members of the Senate on the subject of this bill, Senate Bill No. 897. This bill was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General on March 11th, and was referred to me for examination. I have been looking over it since that time, and I feel that I would not be doing my duty to this Senate or to my constituents if I did not state to the members of the Senate just exactly what this bill is.

It is a small bill, and does not include very much language—it is of one page; but I want to say to you, without fear of successful contradiction, that the bill, if passed, would be a very bad thing. The bill states it is "An Act fixing the damages for the conversion of property of fluctuating value," and the enabling clause says, "That in any proceeding hereafter instituted in any court of this Commonwealth"—I want to emphasize "in any proceeding hereafter instituted"—"in which damages are claimed for the conversion of stocks, bonds or other like property of fluctuating value, the damages shall be limited to the difference between the proceeds of the conversion or that portion thereof duly paid or credited to the owner and such higher value as the property may have reached within a reasonable time after he had notice of the conversion. Where the facts are not in dispute, this period shall be fixed by the court as a matter of law."

Now, this bill, it has been stated, is based on and is the result of a decision made by the Supreme Court in the case of Gervis against Kay et al (294 Pa. 518). The opinion in the case was handed down by Chief Justice Moschisker, November 26, 1928. It makes one rule; and the rule that is laid down in this bill is the rule that has been prescribed by the Supreme Court for the assessment of damages in this Gervis case.

I say to you, as a lawyer, that there is no necessity for this bill. Under the facts in that case it simply makes a statement and fixes the rule as the Supreme Court has laid it down under the facts in this case; but I want to say to you that when the bill says "in any proceeding" it means in any other kind of a case. In other words, this Act, if passed, would make the same rule for damages where stock in controversy is sold in disregard of the rights of the owner, in deliberate breach of trust. It would also be the rule in case of wrongful possession, and continuing to hold stock without the permission of the owner, even to the time of trial. It would also apply where a broker who carried securities would wrongfully pledge them for his own debt; and it would apply where the parties bore to each other the trust relation, viz., that of executors, administrators, trustees or guardians. It would also apply where a broker or banker would mingle securities and pledge them for his own debt.

Now, I appeal to you that this whole subject has been laid down and is made clear, on the question of damages, by the decision of the Supreme Court in this State, and, from time to time, for the past 100 years or more; and, I repeat, I have nothing to say except that, in the first instance, the bill is not necessary. This case was a case tried in Allegheny County and resulted in a verdict there for the plaintiff. Two motions were filed—one for judgment n. o. v. for the defendant; the other a motion for a new trial. The court below refused the judgment n. o. v., but granted a new trial.

When that case came to the Supreme Court, in a unanimous opinion filed, it affirmed the findings, on both points, by the lower court. That means the case goes back for trial. And in that case Mr. Justice Moshzisker lays down the rule of law under which this case was tried.

Now, the decision in the matter of damages is somewhat different from what heretofore had been held; but the Supreme Court in this case adopts what was called the New York Rule —and I want to call your attention to the fact that it is not a New York Act of Assembly, it is a decision by the Supreme Court of New York and the other higher courts of New York State.

Now, so far as I have been able to learn there is no Act of Assembly, either in New York State or any other State, on this subject. It is a matter that cannot be fixed by any definite, fixed rule.

What we call the New York Rule is referred to in the opinion of Mr. Justice Moshzisker as follows: "While the rule to which we refer is known as the New York Rule, it is in force in the federal courts and in other jurisdictions," but there is no Act of Congress that puts it into effect. It simply has been the construction of the courts en matters of this kind from the time that matters of that kind came up before the court.

So I say that, so far as the State of Pennsylvania is concerned, this case has been fully covered by this decision of the Supreme Court; but, as I said before, if this Act were passed there would be an invitation to a man holding securities to convert them wrongfully, knowing that in the face of this Act of Assembly all he would need to do would be to pay it.

Now, that would be the same thing if we had the same penalty—suppose we had the same penalty for a man who was unfortunate enough to kill one of his fellowmen by accident as we have for the man who kills through malice, which we say should be punished by death. While that may be an extreme case, it illustrates exactly what I want to say to you—that you cannot make a fast and fixed rule on the question of damages.

If you pass this Act, you or I, our descendants or our friends may be punished. Suppose, for a moment, that in the late controversy about which we read so much in the newspapers recently,—the fight in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, where there were two factions trying to gain control of the company—I have no doubt that there were many brokers who were buying stock for the purpose of obtaining that control. Now, suppose, for example, that one broker would have had sufficient stock to control that corporation, and he had it in his possession and that fact was known to somebody outside. Now, he bought that—the market value may be one thing, but the control of that corporation might mean, to the man who wanted to get that control, perhaps $50,000 or $100,000; and this man would go to that broker and get that stock for $50,000, and gain control of the corporation. Yet the man who originally bought that stock, and paid for it, could recover only the increased value of the stock.

Therefore, I say to you it would be a rank injustice to the Commonwelath and the people of the State of Pennsylvania to make this a rule.

Now, I just want to read something that the Chief Justice has said,—and the rule that he has laid down in this case, the rule that he applied to this case:

> "The rule, as we would apply it to a case like the one now before us, may be restated thus: 'When, in an action of conversion instituted against a broker to recover damages for a wrongful sale of pledged stock, which subsequently rose in market value, it appears that notice of the sale was given to the owner, who made a reasonably prompt demand on the broker to remedy the wrong, and that the latter failed or refused to comply, the measure of damages is the difference between the sales price and the highest market price of the stock during the interval between the time of its conversion and a time, after defendant's refusal or neglect promptly to replace the shares, when plaintiff had a fair opportunity, under the attending circumstances, to go into the market and acquire a like number of shares of the same stock.'"

It is only necessary for a man, familiar with the question, to read this opinion to come to the conclusion that I am laying before you with regard to it,—that this bill accomplishes nothing for this case, but, on the contrary, imposes and offers a reward for fraud and trickery to the broker or man who wants to do wrong. It offers a premium for it.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, will state his point of order.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, the discussion now being made by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Kunkle, is not in touch with this bill. He is talking about fraud and crime. There is nothing in this bill about fraud and crime. There are Acts of Assembly that protect from the wrongful acts of brokers and administrators. Therefore, my point of order is that he should confine his remarks to the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair believes that the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Kunkle, is within his rights; that the matter is germane to the discussion.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, if it comes to a question involved in this decision he is now quoting, I will agree with the Chair. Otherwise, I appeal from the decision of the Chair.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. President, I read further from the opinion of the Chief Justice:

> "The point we now decide is that the principle of that rule is applicable to the facts as they were developed at the trial under review; that is, to a case where the broker, in making the sale, acted on an honest belief that he was carrying out the instructions of his customer; for the present is not a case where the stock in controversy was sold, in disregard of the rights of the real owner, to protect interests of the broker himself or in deliberate breach of trust."

Again he says, in further discussing this Act:

> "Such a rule would hold out temptations to acts of wrongful conversion by making them profitable to the wrongdoer," for "If a bank, or any other trustee, might deprive the cestui que trust of his stock without answering for the rise in the value, the beneficial owner would be deprived of the very advantage which he had in view when he made the investment."

Another quotation:

> "While the rule in Bank v. Reese has been adhered to by this court on numerous occasions, in none of these cases were the facts so nearly like those now before us as to make it a governing decision here. In Reitenbaugh v. Ludwick, 31 Pa. 131, 141, an administrator of an estate refused to account for stock of his decendent, and it was held that the party beneficially entitled might recover the highest market price up to the time of trial."

And again:

> "In Musgrave v. Beckendorff, 53 Pa. 310, 312, we held that where one had borrowed certain securities and wrongfully failed to return them at a specified time, the rule in the Reese Case was properly applied."

And again, when he is discussing this case in his opinion, he says this:

> "All of them involved a deliberate wrong or breach of trust, while the record before us shows no act of bad faith or wanton misuse of plaintiff's property."

And I repeat, it would be absolutely wrong to apply the same rule to both kinds of cases.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, as a layman,—and I leave it to any member of this Senate who is not an attorney,—I can read this Act and understand it. Attorneys naturally can understand it

This Act is put upon the statute books, or it is attempted to be put there, by the passing of it—to make clear a rule of law which is admitted by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Kunkle, to be in good standing in the State of New York, and which has been adopted in the State of Pennsylvania by the Chief Justice of our Supreme Court in this opinion. And now we are endeavoring to reaffirm that rule by enacting it as a law, in order to clarify the law pertaining to claims of that character. If it is a good rule of law, why would it not be a good Act of Assembly? If it is put upon the statute books, it will be so plain that every man can understand it.

It is simple in its form—it has very few words; and there is no doubt as to its meaning.

Where could there be any harm—or on what better authority should we ask to enact into law decisions of our Supreme Court? Where could he call for better advice than from the courts of New York State? What more do men want than those things that are simplified by Acts of Assembly that can be understood, and, as a layman, interested in the sponsor of this bill? He is Chairman of the Committee on Judiciary General of the House of Representatives, and also, in our county, a highly credited man in every respect. He puts this bill before you—containing the rule recognized in the decision of last November, by our Supreme Court, and tried to make it an Act of this State, as a guide in the future.

Therefore, I appeal to the lawyers and the laymen to pass this bill. If it were wrong, it would be wrong in the opinion of the Supreme Court of the State and it would not be presented here unless it contains merit.

We all know that you cannot suppress crime. We well know that the sneak thief and the crook is around every corner; but we do know that this will clarify the law of this State, if put upon the statute books; and I appeal to the members of this Senate to use their good judgment and the lawyers as a demonstration of the value of this measure.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. President, just one word. I want to say to the Senate that my remarks were not intended to be personal in any way; I do not mean to reflect upon any man who differs with me in opinion. I am merely stating to the Senate the result of my investigations on the bill, and the conclusions that I have arrived at from the decisions of the Supreme Court, from the decisions of the New York State courts and of the federal courts.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 133, as follows:

A joint resolution providing for the appointment by the Governor of a commission for the purpose of investigating and reporting to the Legislature upon the advisability of making it mandatory upon the part of public service corporations who engage in manufacturing supplying and selling manufactured gas for heating and illuminating purposes to make for sale and distribution only a non-poisonous gas for homes and business place

Whereas It has been forcibly brought to attention that in various sections of this Commonwealth there has been a great and as generally viewed unnecessary sacrifice of human life due to the manufacture and sale of poisonous gas either through careless handling of apparatus used by gas consumers defective supply systems or from other causes and

Whereas It is believed that recent experiments have demonstratd the practicability of providing a simple safe and continuous method of manufacturing a non-poisonous gas equal in lighting power and in heat units if not superior to the present day death-dealing fumes and at an economical cost therefore

Section 1 Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That in the interest of public safety the Governor of this Commonwealth shall appoint a commission of seven citizens one of whom must be a qualified and experienced mining engineeer one a recognized expert chemist one who is well learned in the law and four laymen all of whom must be free from financial or official associations with any corporation engaged in the manufacture and sale of non-poisonous gas

Section 2 That the said commission shall ascertain by investigation and reports of recent research the advisability of substituting for public distribution and use a non-asphyxiating gas in place of the present form of poisonous product and prepare such a bill to be presented to the Legislature they deem necessary to protect the interest and welfare of the public but nothing contained in this act shall apply to gases stored and distributed in cylinders manufactured and filled with gases in accordance with regulation of the Interstate Commerce Commission and which cylinders are acceptable for transportation in interstate commerce

Section 3 That the said commission shall report to the Legislature at its earliest convenience at the present Session in time for the introduction and consideration of a bill if one is deemed advisable and it is possible but if not then on or before the first day of February of the session of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one

Section 4 That the said commission shall meet and organize within ten days following its appointment and elect a president and a secretary The commission shall have authority to employ such experts and such other employes as they deem necessary to the proper transaction of the business of the commission The commission shall have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers and other evidence at any meeting of the commission and cause the same to be served and executed in any part of the Commonwealth and if any witness shall refuse to testify or to produce any facts within his knowledge or any books or papers within his or her possession or control the secretary of the commission shall forthwith report the facts to one of the courts of common pleas wherein such witness resides and all questions on such refusal shall at once be heard by said court If the court determines that the testimony or evidence required by such witness is legal and properly competent and ought to be given or produced then the court shall make an order commanding such witness to testify or produce books or papers or both as the case may be and if such witness shall thereafter refuse to testify or produce books or papers the court shall have the power to order the commitment of such witness to the county jail of the proper county for contempt

Section 5 The members of the commission shall receive no compensation but shall be paid necessary expenses actually incurred by them in the performance of their duties as members of the commission

Section 6 The sum of ten thousand dollars is hereby specifically appropriated to the said commission for the purpose of paying the expenses of the members of the commission and the compensation and expenses of such experts and other employes as may be employed by the commission

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 378, as follows:

An Act giving the assent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the provisions of an Act of Congress approved May twenty-second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight entitled "An act to provide for co-operative agriculture extension work between the agricultural colleges in the several states receiving the benefits of an Act of Congress approved July second eighteen hundred and sixty-two and of acts supplementary thereto and the United States Department of Agriculture"

Whereas An Act of Congress approved May twenty-second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight providing for co-operative agricultural extension work between the agricultural colleges in the several states receiving the benefits of an Act of Congress approved July second one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two commonly known as the Land Grant Act and an Act of Congress approved May eighth one thousand nine hundred and fourteen known as the Smith-Lever Act and of acts supplementary thereto and the United States Department of Agriculture requires the states receiving the benefits of said act to signify their assent to the same and the Governor of the Commonwealth having already signified the assent of this State to the purposes and conditions thereof pending the action of the State Legislature thereof therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the assent of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby given to said act of Congress approved May twenty-second one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight entitled "An act to provide for further development of agricultural extension work between the agricultural colleges in the several states receiving the benefits of the act entitled 'An act donating public lands to the several States and Territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts' approved July 2 1862 and all acts supplementary thereto and the United States Department of Agriculture" with all its provisions and conditions and the Pennsylvania State College is hereby designated as the proper institution to receive all appropriations made or to be made by Congress for the purpose of carrying into effect said act or any supplement or supplements thereto and that the treasurer or other officer duly appointed by the governing board of said college be designated as the proper officer to receive all appropriations made under the provisions of said act

Section 2 The Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this act to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United Stat

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. FAY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5.02 P. M. until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, April 3, 1929.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 2, 1929.

The House met at 11.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Aaron B. Hess) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Martin W. Schweitzer, Ph. D., offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, who in the former times didst lead our fathers forth into a wealthy place, give Thy grace, we humbly beseech Thee, to us their children, that we may always approve ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will.

Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning and pure manners. Defend our liberties; preserve our unity. Save us from lawlessness and violence; from discord and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way.

Fashion into one godly people the multitude brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those whom we entrust in Thy name with the authority of government, to the end that there may be good government at home and in Thine own good time peace with all the world. We ask it in His name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. Myers, seconded by Mr. James G. Clark, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER.

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1580.

An Act fixing the fees of the recorder of deeds in counties of the third and fourth class

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

RESOLUTION FROM IOWA STATE LEGISLATURE MEMORALIZING CONGRESS TO INCREASE FEDERAL AID FOR ROAD CONSTRUCTION.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication and resolution from the House of Representatives of the State of Iowa which was read by the Clerk as follows:

STATE OF IOWA.
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Des Moines, March 26, 1929.

Chief Clerk, House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pa.

My Dear Sir: I have the honor to transmit herewith, duly certified copy of House Concurrent Resolution No. 7, which was adopted by the Forty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

Most respectfully yours,
(Signed) A. C. GUSTAFSON.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 7.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION MEMORALIZING THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE CONGRES TO INCREASE FEDERAL AID FOR ROAD CONSTRUCTION.

Whereas, the development of our state had made it increasingly apparent that the people of the state must have good roads, and

Whereas, the people of the state of Iowa at the last general election expressed themselves overwhelmingly in favor of an enlarged road construction program, and

Whereas, the road building program as outlined and contemplated in this state involves the improvement of many roads of an interstate nature, thus making the co-operation and assistance of the Federal Government a matter of vital importance, and

Whereas, the Congress of the United States has for many years been appropriating Federal aid for road construction at the rate of seventy-five million dollars ($75.000,000) per year, and

Whereas, in view of the rapidly increasing traffic on the interstate highways within this state, it is apparent that the building of roads in this state must be speeded up in order to adequately meet the needs of such interstate traffic, now, therefore

Be It Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Iowa, the Senate concurring:

That we hereby recommend to the President of the United States and to the Congress, that at the coming special session of Congress the annual Federal aid road appropriation be increased from seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000) per year to not less than one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) per year.

Be It Further Resolved, That on the passage of this resolution the Chief Clerk of the House shall certify a copy hereof to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the Chairman of the Committee on Roads of the Senate and to the Chairman of the Committee on Roads of the House of Representatives, and to each State Legislature now in session.

(Signed) J. H. JOHNSON,
Speaker of the House.

(Signed) ARCH W. FcFARLAND,
President of the Senate.

I hereby certify that this Resolution was adopted March 25, 1929.

(Signed) A. C. GUSTAFSON,
Chief Clerk of the House.

Referred to the Committee on Public Roads.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. FULLER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Hart on account of illness, for the balance of the week.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1820, (Senate Bill No. 276), entitled:

An Act to amend section five of an act approved the sixteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred forty-four) entitled "An act applying to third class counties only and regulating the selection drawing and summoning of all jurors and talesmen and defining their qualifications in such counties creating a jury board and defining its powers and procedure providing for the appointment of a clerk to the jury board and fixing his maximum salary providing for the custody of the jury wheel and the filing and custody of jury lists providing for the public drawing of jurors and the methods thereof giving the trial judge the right to excuse jurors prescribing the time of challenging jurors or the array and regulating the procedure if array is quashed repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" by fixing the fees and mileage chargeable by the sheriff for summoning jurors

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know if there is any member of the House who will explain the provisions of Senate Bill No. 276.

The SPEAKER. Is there any member of the House who will explain the bill to the gentleman from Fulton County?

Mr. DONNELL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill requires that the sheriff receive the fee of one dollar for each summons or service. I don't know what his fees were before but that is the amendment.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this bill provides that a fee of one dollar shall be paid for serving notices to the jurymen either personally or by mail; is that correct?

Mr. ASTON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to inform the gentleman from Fulton County that this bill affects only third class counties and that takes in Luzerne County, and the Senators from the county and the Representatives are in accord on this particular bill and I would like to ask the members of the House to vote "yes" on this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—1.

Peelor,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1031 (Senate Bill No. 187), entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of the act approved the thirty-first day of March, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (P. L. 98), entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class,' approved the seventh day of March, one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws twenty), authorizing cities of the second class to regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, and the size of yards, courts, and other spaces, the density of population, and to regulate and restrict the location, use and occupancy of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence, specified uses or other purposes, and, for the above purposes, to divide the city into districts, and authorizing the City Planning Commission to recommend the boundaries of districts and appropriate regulations therein, and providing the method of adoption of said district regulations and restrictions, and providing methods to prevent the unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, conversion, repair, maintenance, use, or occupancy of buildings, structures or land, and to prevent the unlawful occupancy or use of the said buildings, structures or land and any illegal act, conduct, business or use in or about such premises, and the method of amendment or change thereof, et cetera," by providing that the repealing clause shall not repeal prior acts in so far as they apply to cities of the second class A.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1469 (Senate Bill No. 97), entitled:

An Act to amend section fourteen of the Act of May twenty-seventh one thousand eight hundred and forty-one (Pamphlet Laws four hundred) entitled "An act relating to the election of county treasurers and for other purposes" by providing for the removal by the courts of quarter sessions of constables in cases of malfeasance or misfeasance in office et cetera.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to inquire if any person in the House has given this bill any study and can give any information thereon.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, asks if any member of the House is in position to explain the provisions of this bill. This being a Senate bill will anyone volunteer?

Mr. STEEDLE. If there is no one here to explain the provisions of this act, I move, Mr. Speaker, that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar until we have an opportunity to study the bill.

Mr. ZIESENHEIM. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1634, entitled:

An Act making it lawful for minors of the age of fifteen years as determined by the nearest birthday to contract for life, health and accident insurance on his or her life for the benefit of certain persons, and to exercise full contractural rights with respect to the insurance.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, some of the members back here are a little in doubt as to the purpose of this bill and we would like Mr. Rice to explain it.

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is intended to give the same privileges to a minor in regard to handling his life insurance contracts as is at present given to a person of age. It often happens that a boy in college who is financing his way through college, buys a life insurance contract to protect someone who lends him money. It is impossible, under the present law, for the minor to use that contract without the signature of his parents or his guardians and consequently it is thought that a bill of this kind giving some contractual right to minors so that they can handle their contracts which they paid for, would be a good thing. It in no way interferes with parents buying a policy for their children and not being able to control it, because those parents can have that policy written with a right to change the beneficiary and in that way the policy cannot be changed unless they attach their signature to the form.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, the question has been raised back here as to whether or not any unscrupulous insurance agent can oversell a boy or girl of the age of fifteen or sixteen years. I think it is a good bill, but this question has been raised back here among my colleagues. I would not be understood to be in the position of opposing the bill but I am merely seeking information.

Mr. RICE. There would be no reason to have the bill if you had to have the parents agree, and even if that provision were in it, it would not in any way interfere with unscrupulous insurance agents writing minors; they could write them just the same. This is intended to facilitate the handling of the contract. It is intended that where a minor has paid for an insurance policy from his or her own funds, and that minor desires to use that contract in any way he or she sees fit, they can do so. It would not in any way protect the minor to have any other provision inserted in there.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the point I am asking about is this: If a boy or a girl has the funds to purchase one of these policies, would it not still be a good idea to require the signature of their parents or their guardian.

Mr. RICE. That is the practice now; that is our present procedure. This would not in any way affect that. This takes place after the contract has been written. This bill is intended to take care of that minor having initial contractual rights after the policy is written. This has nothing whatever to do with the actual writing of the policy.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Some of the members about me have suggested that this might be a reason for unscrupulous agents overselling boys and girls of fifteen years of age who are not competent to judge.

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my position is that this bill has nothing to do with that point. In other words, to-day a minor can be sold a policy. This bill only deals with the matter after the minor has been sold, so that the bill would not in any way bear on the point you bring out.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill under consideration does not present any great difficulty. At the present time we have a law on the statute books allowing minors to become members of fraternal organizations. These laws provide that minors may contract for insurance and that they shall stand committed to the contract and the insurance company will likewise be bound. You will find in all communities many minors who are away from home and who are of the age of eighteen or even seventeen years of age, and they certainly should have the benefit of sick and accident insurance. You will find that minors to-day join a lot of fraternal associations, sick benefit associations, because the law permits them to join these, and as a rule they are not very substantial organizations. It is hardly likely that a minor will be taken advantage of by the insurance company because the rates are all fixed; there is a standard price for these ages; there is a price for this age and on that age, so that regardless of the age, the price will be the same. In addition to that, there are many young people who have no parents and who go away from home. These minors should have the same protection that others have.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the sponsor of the bill permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. RICE. I will with pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, may I suggest to the sponsor of this bill that the bill could be so amended as to apply only to children who are without parents or who are removed from their home.

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I personally think that that would complicate it very much. I don't see any reason for amending a simple bill of this kind. This bill is very simple. Its purpose is very easily understood, and it in no way interferes with the writing of life insurance policies on minors as they are written to-day. It merely gives additional rights for a very definite purpose.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, from time immemorial the minor has been considered incapable of exercising contractual rights. I, therefore, deem this bill to be a revolutionary thing, and I doubt its constitutionality. It would certainly be a very dangerous precept to give to a child fifteen years of age the power of entering into contracts. If this bill should become a law, it might pave the way for further lessening of those guarantees which have been given to minors. As I stated in the beginning, from time immemorial a minor has been considered as incapable of entering into contracts. I therefore suggest, as far as I am concerned, that this bill be voted down.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 327 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. LYNCH asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 2, 1929.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 327, Printer's No. 612, File Folio 3681, entitled "An act making it a misdemeanor to wear the uniform of the United States army, navy, marine corp, revenue cutter service, or coast guard, or of the National Guard, while soliciting alms or while doing certain other things for personal profit and fixing penalties," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1958, entitled:

An Act relating to corporations, providing methods of determining what stockholders shall be entitled to notice of and to vote at meetings, or to receive dividends or allotments of rights, or to exercise rights, and the effect thereon of transfers of stock within sixty days of any election or meeting.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, with the consent of the sponsor of this bill, I desire to move that it be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. WEIDEMANN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1744, entitled:

An Act to amend part of section one of the act approved the tenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 455), entitled "An act to fix the number of Representatives in the General Assembly of the State, and to apportion the State into representative districts as provided by the Constitution," by changing certain of such districts in Philadelphia.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on Tuesday, March 26th, on the advice of the physicians of the State Medical Society of Pennsylvania, I took exceptions to the passage of a bill. These exceptions were carried to the extent that this bill was defeated by the kind consideration of the members of this House in protection of society against infringement of the medical profession of the healing art. Upon my visit to Philadelphia last week, and in conference with leading members of the State Medical Society, we discussed this bill at length and fully. We considered the act of 1909 and the act of 1915 and amendment of 1923. They have asked me, if it would not in any way embarrass my position in the House, if I so desire, they would O. K. and confirm my suggestion for a reconsideration of the vote on this bill. I want to thank the members of this House who assisted in the defeat of this bill. After a very thorough study on this occasion of this proposed amendment of the Osteopathic Act, we agreed that a motion for reconsideration should be proposed by me.

In view of friendship that has existed between myself and the sponsor of this bill for many years past, I move that the vote by which House Bill 1407, file folio 3715, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of an act approved the nineteenth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws forty-six) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania to provide for the establishment of a State Board of Osteopathic Examiners to define the powers and duties of said Board of Osteopathic Examiners to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act" as amended defining a reputable school or college of osteopathy.

was defeated on final passage on March 25, 1929, be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman vote on the bill?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I voted "no."

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion and I voted "no."

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1650, (Senate Bill No. 682), entitled:

An Act to amend section sixteen of an act approved the thirty-first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws, four hundred sixty-eight), entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department, by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner, two Deputy State Highway Commissioners, chief engineer, chief draughtsman, superintendents of highways, and a staff of assistants and employes; defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and fixing salaries of commissioners and deputies and other appointees; providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats; principal cities, and towns and extending to the State line; describing and defining same by route numbers as the State Highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the improvement, maintenance and repair of said State Highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth, and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve or maintain the same, and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same; requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State Highways wholly and in part; requiring the State Highway Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof; conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner, providing for the payment of damages in taking of property, or otherwise, in the improvement thereof; providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State Highway, and procedure therein; providing for work of improvement of State Highways to be done by contract, except where the State Highway Commissioner decides the work be done by the State; providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads; defining highways and State-aid highways; providing method of application for State aid in the improvement, maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township, county, borough, or incorporated town petitions, providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State, county, township, borough, or incorporated town, and requiring contracts by counties, townships, boroughs, and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same; providing for the minimum width of State highways and State-aid highways, and kind of materials to be used in the improvement; providing for payment of cost of improvement or repairs; providing penalty for injuring or destroying State Highways; making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act; and providing for the repeal of certain act relating to Highway Department and improvement of roads, and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith; and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act" as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a bill which provides for the collection of gasoline taxes during the coming biennium. I deem it a sufficiently important piece of legislation to every member of this House to ask your forbearance for just a few moments. When this bill was introduced, it provided for a three-cent flat tax. Subsequently this House provided a very comprehensive highway program and as a result of that program it becomes necessary to increase the three-cent rate to four cents. I will not discuss the question of the raise of tax; that I will leave to those men of the House who sponsored the amendment, as you are interested more particularly in the benefits, the direct benefits, that will come to your constituents as a result of the increase of one cent; so I will confine myself entirely to a discussion of the difference between the present bill and the law as it is now written upon the statute books.

May I say at this time that the Ways and Means Committee have had under consideration two bills touching upon this subject. The first of them is the bill which I sponsored which as you all know, is the bill that comes to us from the fiscal officer of the Commonwealth, and another is the bill introduced by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Talbot. The second bill, if enacted into law, would completely change the method of the collection of the gasoline tax. As you know, the tax is now collected from dealers and users under the present law. Under the act now under consideration the same method of collection will prevail. However, under the Talbot bill, the collection will be made from the distributors at the point of distribution. The Ways and Means Committee still has both bills under consideration and has not by any means come to a definite conclusion as to which of the two methods is the most advisable under the circumstances. We are at the point now where we feel, although it may seem to be an extraordinary phase of business in legislative procedure, that we should present for the final consideration of the Chief Executive, both of these measures, and have him ascertain which of the two will be the most beneficial. We believe that probably in the course of a very short time the House will also have an opportunity to pass upon the Talbot bill amended so as to raise the tax, to conform to House Bill No. 155 now under consideration. The bill under consideration now substantively, with the exception of the rate and two other phases, follows essentially the act of 1927 amending the act of 1923, and so that you may understand the measure when it comes to a vote upon it, I deem it my duty to point out to you wherein we believe this act improves the system under which we now operate.

In the first place, this act imposes upon a collector of the gasoline tax, or the dealer, the obligation of furnishing to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a bond running to the benefit of the Commonwealth, for the faithful compliance with the provisions of the act.

In the second place, the act provides that the dealer shall be compensated for services rendered by them to the Commonwealth in the collection of that tax. The rate of compensation is one per cent. for the first two thousand dollars, and one-half of one per cent. for all in excess of two thousand dollars.

The act also provides, differing from the present law, that the returns to the Department of Revenue must be made monthly instead of every quarter, so that by that provision of the act you will see that the fund will become very much more liquid than heretofore—not liquid in the sense that applies to gasoline. In other words, the Commonwealth will receive the returns on this money every month instead of every quarter.

There has been inserted in this act by amendment since the time of its first introduction some tightening up of precedural provisions and they, may I say to you, have been taken from the amendments that have been prepared in connection with the Talbot bill.

The act follows precisely, or at least substantially, the provisions of the existing law with respect to the returns to be made by dealers and also with respect to auditing accounts of those persons who sell the retailers or the dealers. Similar provisions are contained in this act with respect to the investigations and so, members of the House, I have stated to you all inclusively the existing differences between the act that you now have under consideration and the act which is now on the statute books.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, is not the train running ahead of schedule? I'll admit that a gas tax is the proper way to build highways. But there is a question in my mind whether or not the State of Pennsylvania needs the extra cent at this time. If you people will go back to last Fall, to the time of the general election, you will recall that the people of the State voted down a bond issue of fifty million dollars for the purpose of the building of highways. A number of our members took that as a criterion to vote by when we came down here. The fact that the electorate of this State was opposed to spending money which would thereby increase taxation. As you people all know, the increase of one cent is an increase of thirty-three and one-third per cent. on the sales tax. As I said before, I think it is a fair way to build highways. One thing I won't admit, however, and that is why a certain gentleman, having no connection with the government of Pennsylvania, has to sit in with our State officials and tell him and them whom to tax and what to tax. I say it is not right. I don't think that the State of Pennsylvania ever intended that its administrative officers should be its legislative officers, but it appears that that is what is being done here today. I don't believe if I should ask the House to vote against this bill that it would result in bringing one vote against it, but I want to express my opinion on this four-cent gas bill.

Mr. BALDRIGE. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I do not pretend to be a prophet nor the son of a prophet, nor anything of that character, but what I prophesied last Monday night on the floor of the House came true last Wednesday afternoon. The bills that I opposed last Monday night were the forerunner of this bill. Now, I think it is high time for the members of this House to stop and think, and especially the members of this House who were here two years ago, and heard the solemn statement coming from the Highway Department that if this House at that time would vote a two-cent tax as a permanent tax on gasoline, and a three-cent tax as a temporary tax on gasoline, the Highway Department would have sufficient revenue to complete their highway program as contemplated without asking for any additional revenue. Most of us accepted that word to be true; I for one did. My word is good in business, it is good in private life, and it has to be good in politics.

Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of this House, don't you think that Pennsylvania citizens are taxed high enough? I do. Here is the situation we have regarding the automobile owner: He is taxed for the privilege of owning a car; he is taxed for the privilege of driving a car, and he is also taxed for the privilege of putting his fuel in his car. There are three taxes on the automobile owner. There was a time in this State when the automobile was considered a luxury. Today, any man that is in business knows it is a necessity.

I have supported the good roads program in this State from the time of Governor Sproul, a man whom I admired and loved. I have supported every program that I have had an opportunity to support, here in the legislative hall, and outside of it, until last Monday night.

I think Pennsylvania has made the greatest strides of any State in the Union on its road program, and I know my own county has done the same. While the State of Pennsylvania voted down the second fifty million dollar bond issue last November, Allegheny County placed forty-seven and a half millions in bonds on our roads in our own county for improvements. Think what we have to contend with! My county made the State look like a piker, and yet we had to spend it. I am for improvements, within reason, and within common sense, but I am not for going crazy on anything.

This bill is not only a hardship on the owner of an automobile, or the owner of a truck, generally, but especially a hardship on the farmer. I have many of them in my district. Today the up-to-date farmer uses gasoline not only to run his truck, to get his produce to and from the farm to the market, but he runs his washing-machine with it, he runs his electric lighting plant with it, and he churns his milk into butter with it, he runs his tractors with it, and what not. He pumps the water from the spring into his house with it. Don't forget, you farmers, who think you want good roads, who want to get Pennsylvania out of the mud, that you are going to pay heavy for it. You will pay more for roads under this bill than you have any idea you are going to pay,—thirty-three and a third per cent. increase in one year on a tax is a big item.

You just voted for a bill here last night, we all voted for it, taking off the tax on the hard coal. We thought it was a terrible thing in Pennsylvania and yet eighty-nine per cent of that tax comes from outside of the State. When that tax of one and a half per cent. was put on, the operators raised their price fifty cents, and the retailers outside of the State raised it one dollar a ton to make up that cent and a half. What are you going to do here?

A twelve year program! The one cent tax, a temporary tax? Isn't that only a makeshift; isn't that only a smoke screen and blind? We had the same thing two years ago. Break your faith with the people? I won't. I ask you to vote "no."

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if anybody should complain about this bill, Philadelphia ought to be the one. Has not Philadelphia generously poured out from its funds, thousands and millions of dollars to build roads for farmers to take them out of the mud and increase their land values? Will the farmers be so mean in return not to appreciate our generosity. Members of the House, our civilization cannot long endure if we are to continue to be selfish. You have before you a proposition as to whether this gasoline tax of three cents shall be raised to four cents and shall continue not indefinitely, but for one year. Will your constituents be so ungenerous as to say to you that you did wrong in voting for this slight raise? Everywhere throughout our Commonwealth we find much unemployment. And why? The great improvement in machinery is constantly putting men and women out of employment. How can they be employed if the State does not come in in some way or other and give them employment on roads and on public buildings? I am reliably told that in 1914 it took one hundred men to make a certain quantity of automobiles, and I am told today that thirty men now make the same quantity of automobiles. Where are those seventy men to be employed? Doesn't it mean that those that are employed must furnish in the way of taxes, money to employ those that are idle? Why, those that furnish that money only help themselves. They help themselves in this way, by employing people on public improvements and those men are not competitors for their own jobs. During the last campaign for President we heard Hoover, and we heard his opponents say that unemployment is so great there is no possibility in business of picking it up, that it behooves us to seek public improvements to put it to work. Now, what man can begrudge a penny on a gallon of gasoline to help his neighbor earn a living.

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, last week this House adopted a new highway program by an overwhelming vote. At that time it was stated on the floor of the House that the question of finances to pay that program, in addition to the present highway program, was one which would be subjected to the most careful scrutiny, and the members of this House were assured that any recommendations which followed as a result of that study would represent the absolute minimum in the form of increased taxation.

It is unnecessary for me to dwell here on the fact that good roads do pay dividends. I think even the gentlemen who have spoken in opposition to the measure before you will hesitate to say that they are not in favor of carrying on the Pennsylvania good roads program. The question of the increase of property values and the employment of labor and materials has been touched upon by the gentleman from Philadelphia. It is well also to remember that on this additional program, which is not directly responsible for the measure before you, ten million dollars out of thirteen million dollars, which is estimated as the cost, is directly returnable to the local districts all over the Commonwealth, and it is returnable in the form of tax relief where tax relief is needed, where the burden is heaviest, namely, the general property tax on locally assessed real estate. Let us remember that in adopting this new program you can go back to your district, whether it is a city or a township or a borough or a county, and you, by adopting this program with which this revenue measure is linked, will have afforded a possible measure of tax relief, where the tax burden is the heaviest.

In considering the question of extending the highway program, or even maintaining our present rate of road building, we must consider the question of finances. This whole question unfortunately has become involved in a controversy. Throughout this controversy I ought to say here that Governor Fisher has been consistent. In a letter which he wrote and which was published last autumn prior to the general election, Governor Fisher stated that as to the highway bond issue it appeared to be a choice for the voters as between the highway bond issue on the one hand and a probable increase in motor taxation on the other. His position remains unchanged and he has been consistent. The pay-as-you-go plan was chosen by the people, and this measure offered you today is simply carrying out the logical result of the situation which was created last Fall. The conclusion was reached after careful scrutiny that the present revenues are sufficient to carry on the present program provided that proper economies are effected in the Highway Department, but that in order to commence a new program which we passed last week, certain additional revenues must be found. The proposed increase in fees on busses and the heavier duty trucks and the operators' license, will provide a part of this sum. For the balance an increase of one cent in the gasoline tax, not for two years, not for eighteen months, but for one year only is believed on the basis of present information to be sufficient.

Now, some of you gentlemen may ask if we are only going to finance this new program temporarily for the next two years, what is the use of imposing an additional cent at all. The answer is this, and it it is purely a revenue matter: thirteen million dollars has been estimated as the cost of the additional program, part of that amount can be made up from the motor vehicle code increase. In fact it is thought that this increase which amounts to four million dollars a year, if we change the code in the Senate as it should be changed, to lighten the tax on the lighter duty trucks with pneumatic tires, and by proper economies in the Highway Department, it is believed that under the present program, that the wonderful new program which was adopted last week can be carried on. The trouble is that the new motor license fee increase does not become effective until next year. We must have something with which to finance the two programs for the immediate ensuing biennium. Also in connection with the increase of one cent on the gasoline tax, justice was considered in this respect: It was not felt to be entirely equitable to cause the increase of a gasoline tax to overlap on the increase the license on the heavy trucks that us so large an amount of gasoline. Justice was considered in this program. As for the gasoline tax, I think every one here will admit that it was a most equitable form of taxing for highway purposes yet devised. The user of the highway pays in direct proportion to his use of the highway. Please remember also that twenty per cent. of the gasoline tax is collected from outsiders, not from Pennsylvanians. The price of gasoline at present is low. It will not always be so. Only a few years ago you were paying more for gasoline than you would be paying today if you had a six or a seven cent gasoline tax. When the price, due to other factors becomes exhorbitant or prohibitive, the gasoline tax will then be out of the question. The average rate of permanent gas tax in forty-six states of this Union is now three cents and three mills. That is a permanent tax. In other words, three-tenths of one cent above the permanent tax which we shall have. If the proposals now before the legislatures of the several states are adopted this rate will be increased to three and seven-tenths cents permanent tax and this will include New York and Illinois. New York only last week adopted a rate of two cents a gallon, so that the permanent differential between our northern border and the southern border of New York will now be one cent instead of three cents as in the past years. Indiana only last week adopted a rate of four cents. The trend is upward. We cannot say that our rate is excessive in comparison with the rates in other states.

If the new program is adopted the additional cost to the average motorists of one cent per gallon for one year is estimated at three dollars fifty cents. Now, that amount is still further reducible to any motorist who pays local taxes by the amount of tax relief which that new program adopted last week will mean. The new schedule of license fees to yield, as I have said, four million dollars a year, one cent on the gas tax for one year should bring in about eight million dollars, not nine million or ten million dollars. The present indications, after careful study, would seem to me that the estimates of the Highway Department on revenue available for the next biennium were a trifle high, especially with respect to the revenue to be derived from gasoline tax. In other words, after making arrangements for economizing within the Department respecting the expenditure of money, including the replacement program, we still have the fact confronting us that additional money is required in the form of this gasoline tax, due to the fact that the department in all human probability will not receive as much as they expected, or as was stated in the budget by at least six or seven million dollars. When all these factors are considered it is evident that the additional one cent on gasoline for one year is the minimum requirement in revenue if the present program is carried out, and if the new program is to be adopted.

This program which we passed last week, and with the present highway program which has brought so much credit to this State, will be far-reaching in its benefits in every section of your districts. It is idle to consider the thought that the additional program can be provided unless the necessary revenue is provided. You have provided already by voting on the vehicle code for the permanent inclusion of the new program As to the gap existing between now and next year we are confronted with the necessity of raising the minimum amount of revenue. This bill before you will provide that amount. These benefits which will be effected by the new program are no doubt familiar to you, but as I say they will be felt all over the State from Philadelphia with its eighty miles of city streets, Lycoming County with its two hundred one miles of State highway, which are still in the mud; it will be felt from Bucks County on the east which has thirty-five miles of State-aid roads and eighty-four county bridges, thirty-two miles of borough streets, which are now being maintained by local taxation in whole or in part, to Beaver County on the west with its fourteen miles of State-aid roads, its one hundred thirty-two miles of township reward road, its eighteen miles of township reward road, its sixty-four bridges and thirty-two miles of borough streets.

I take these examples at random, but that is merely a concrete example of what the program means to you back home. Gentlemen, I ask that you vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill before us for discussion embodies two distinct principles. The first one pertains to the matter of collection. I am naturally not in sympathy with this particular bill because it does not conform to the principles of collection that I believe in. Neither do I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that both of these bills should be voted upon and put upon the Governor's desk to let him choose. It seems to me that the members of this House are in better position to determine which is the better method, and it seems positively unfair that we should place both bills upon his desk and then pack our bags and go home, "passing the buck" to the chief executive of this great Commonwealth.

If the members will recall, early in the session, I offered a resolution which called upon the Auditor General to tell this legislative body how much the department had lost in uncollected tax, and if you will recall the sum of one million and a half dollars was the amount named that had been directly lost, which amounted to about two per cent of the entire collectible amount. I did not ask, Ladies and Gentlemen, in that resolution, how much money we had to concede to collect a certain amount of money. For illustration I cite you this case: A retail dealer had been in business and possibly had collected, we will say, ten thousand dollars of the peoples' money that belonged to the State, specifically for roads, and that retailer went out of business. The department finally found that he owed the state money, but he only had five thousand dollars to pay the state. I compliment the Auditor General on being able to collect a certain amount of money, but I believe I am conservative when I say that an additional million and a half dollars was lost to this good roads program. That would mean that four per cent of the tax was not collected.

If this bill is passed, I am willing to admit that bonding may, upon the surface, bring the dealers in closer contact with the collecting department, but we should realize fully that if in one instance a man will evade this tax, the bond will not affect him one iota; and with the increased proposition before him of collecting a twenty-five per cent increase in the tax it makes it that much more tempting for him to evade the issue.

Under the bill before you, you will have at least 25,000 dealers to contend with. I say frankly if this bill that is before us is put across, it will take a corps of employes of the Auditor General's Department that will consume possibly a million or two million dollars more. If my bill, and I say "my bill" because it has been called the Talbot bill, were before you now there would only be 700 collectors to deal with, in so far as the Auditor General's Department is concerned. I say here and now that I do believe that in the past the retailers should have been compensated for the work they did, and I think due to the fact that they never made a complaint, those that were honest with the government are worthy of commendation.

We come to another vital feature in this bill in regard to the four cent tax. I regret exceedingly that no member in this House has proven in actual figures that the four cent gas tax is necessary. I say to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, along the line of his comparison, that in 1914 it took 100 men to build an automobile and in 1928 it took only 30, that if we continue to tax the people of Pennsylvania you will not even need 30 people to build an automobile. I do believe that we have sufficient funds to carry along the new program that was passed last Monday night, and I honestly and sincerely voted for that program, believing that a three cent gasoline tax was sufficient to carry out that particular program.

While I do not propose to burden you with figures, the figures I will present to you in a few moments are accurate, and when I say accurate, I do not mean estimated, but I mean the actual expenditures of money as taken from the only fiscal officer whose report would be authentic in the disbursement of funds, the present state treasurer. In the past biennium the budget secretary for the Highway Department said that it was necessary to have $125,000,000—I will only quote the round figures—to perfect the program of 1927 and 1929. From the first of June, 1927, until March thirty-first, 1929, there was an actual amount expended, in round figures, of one hundred and three million dollars. For the balance of the biennium we will take the two peak months for any year, which has been done in this case, and it shows an expenditure of over $6,000,000, nearly $7,000,000. That covers the past biennium and should be a criterion to figure by during the coming biennium. Those are the figures for the past biennium, and mark you, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, we in the past few years reached a peak program because we had the two $50,000,000 bond issues available for that purpose. Last fall we came before the voters of this great Commonwealth and asked for an additional fifty million dollars. It is not necessary for me to tell you the vote, and how overwhelmingly the people of this state said that they did not want any more bond issues in so far as the Highway Department was concerned. Judging from the period when the money from the bond issues was available for highway purposes, we cannot take for the coming biennium any more than $110,000,000. Admitting and believing that the program passed last week will entail an additional expenditure of $13,500,000, that would give us a total of over $123,000,000. The Secretary of Highways has said it is necessary to keep on hand at all times a revolving fund of $18,000,000, and believing that he knows his business we will concede that amount of money, which will then make a total for expenditure of over $142,000,000. According to the report of the Department of Highways they will have funds available amounting to $147,000,000. The sum I just stated of $142,000,000 deducted from the $147,000,000 will leave a balance or surplus of over $5,000,000. Adding to that the estimated receipts from increased drivers' licenses, bus licenses, and so forth, without considering any increase in the automobile owners' drivers' licenses, the sum for the biennium that will come in will be over $9,000,000, making a total of over $15,000,000. Therefore, the total estimated funds available for all highway purposes, taking the figures from the Governor's budget, $147,000,000, plus the increased revenue of over $9,000,000, gives us the grand total of over $157,000,000. Taking and keeping this picture before you, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, that in the past biennium the expenditure at its peak was $110,000,000, it leaves available the grand total of $47,000,000.

I am to-day listening to the mandates of the voters of this great Commonwealth, and am opposed to this bill in its entirety. I say to you frankly that if my bill is brought to the floor of this House, I still will be opposed to the four cent tax.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill before us which includes a temporary addition of one cent per gallon on gasoline for a period of one year is vitally related to the new highway program which was adopted almost unanimously by this House a few days ago. That comprehensive road program embodies the true expression of the demands of the people of this State not only for more hard-surface roads but also for relief from intolerable local financial burdens and escape from an even greater financial menace now hanging over our taxpayers. It is a program formulated from various bills introduced in this chamber by the members themselves at their own initiative. Under its provisions, for instance, all county bridges on State highway routes will be taken over by the State. In my own county of Bedford, for example, we have fifty county bridges on State highway routes, half of them old timber bridges and practically all of them unsuited to present-day motor traffic. As the cost of the reconstruction and maintenance of these bridges now rests solely upon the local taxpayer my people can in my judgment better afford on this ground alone to pay an extra cent on gas for a year than to continue longer under so great a financial menace, a menace with which they are on their own resources, utterly unable to grapple. The bridge bill, however, is but one of the beneficient features of this highways program. The other features are scarcely less advantageous to the people. This program includes the eventual paving wholly at State expense of all unimproved dirt roads now on the State highway system. It is not with us a question of more roads only, but also of relief under new laws less burdensome to the poorer districts. Our county is now bonded to its full legal limit. Under present laws we are obliged therefore to forfeit, and lose each year our county's share of the State-aid money offered us, all because of our financial inability to match it from funds of our own.

Now this coveted program, which contains still other favorable features, is not possible of being carried out by the State without sufficient revenues to finance it. Regardless of contradictory claims as to the amount of money now available, it is the settled conviction of those members in the House and Senate who have made an exhaustive and impartial study of the subject that this additional cent tax on gasoline is absolutely necessary for the execution of these comprehensive road plans. If the essential revenue is not provided, the highway program fails. If we lose the program we shall bitterly disappoint the people of the State. We shall go back to our homes empty-handed and discredited. To those who have asked of us bread, we shall have given a stone.

We want to rehabilitate rural life in our great State, to enrich it, to gladden it. Our duty, therefore, is to the vast rural areas of Pennsylvania which are not yet provided with modern highways. Our obligation is to the large farming population which constitutes so essential a factor in our civilization and progress. Agriculture is the primary industry upon which our material prosperity depends. When agriculture prospers every other industry thrives; when agriculture is depressed every other industry eventually languishes. In behalf of that industry, in behalf of those who live and labor on the farms, who go to market, to school, to church from the farms, in behalf of those from whose ranks so much of the brain and brawn of our civilization is drawn, I heartily support the advanced highway program, and I therefore favor the passage of this bill by which alone, as I believe, that program will be made possible.

Mr. J. G. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Speakers so far have confined themselves to the four cent gas tax entirely. In my estimation there is more to this bill than the question of a four cent gas tax. In the provisions of this bill I read the dealers are to receive one per cent. of what they collect as remuneration. I have been advised by the Pennsylvania Gasoline Vendor's Alliance that the average amount of gasoline sold by the dealers in this State per annum is 20,000 gallons. If that be true and the gasoline tax of four cents is levied, it means that the dealer will collect on an average of eight hundred dollars per annum. He will receive for collecting that tax one per cent., which is eight dollars. He has to make a return, a sworn statement every month, which will cost him fifty cents or six dollars per year. The minimum surety bond that he can purchase is ten dollars, and he is supposed to take it out. Ten dollars plus six dollars for the sworn statement is sixteen dollars he has to pay per year; he sells 20,000 gallons of gasoline and receives from the State for collecting the tax on that, eight dollars. In other words, the dealer in this State is paying the State eight dollars for collecting tax for the State. I believe if it was not a question of taxation I would be opposed to this bill for that very reason.

Miss GRIMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, women drive cars at the present time, in as great numbers as men, and the women of Pennsylvania I think are interested in this bill. There is one point in my mind that has not been cleared in the many interesting speeches made on the bill.

I should like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will.

Miss GRIMES. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia if it has not been stated frequently in the public press, that the State Treasurer says that there is enough money to finance this road program

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, with all the politeness that the lady from Allegheny deserves, I must refer her to the associated press. I cannot answer so far as newspaper statements are concerned either as to the accuracy or their authenticity.

Miss GRIMES. Has the Ways and Means Committee taken any steps to ascertain whether or not those statements are correct?

Mr. STERLING. Oh, yes, the Ways and Means Committee has taken steps to do just that. Early in this session the Ways and Means Committee divided itself into a number of sub committees, one of which was confined to highway work, and of which my friend, Mr. Wheeler from Forest, is chairman. As a result of that investigation by that sub-committee I am told the figures of the Highway Department justify the four cent tax.

Miss GRIMES. I am referring to the statement of the State Treasurer. Is the State Treasurer the highest fiscal officer of the State.

Mr. STERLING. I would not say that he is any higher than the other fiscal officer. We have two, the State Treasurer and the Auditor General.

Miss GRIMES. Those two are the fiscal officers of the State and they are elected by the people of the State, are they not, to safeguard our treasury?

Mr. STERLING. I am at a loss to understand whether the lady from Allegheny is making a statement or asking me a question.

Miss GRIMES. I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, is it not true that the Auditor General and the State Treasurer whom the people elect, are elected to take care of and safeguard the treasury and be in position to know the condition of the treasury.

Mr. STERLING. Unfortunately, those two fiscal officers have information only as to the money which they actually receive, and they have no way of ascertaining, as I understand it, what the anticipated requirements of the various departments of the State Government are. One is the collecting officer, the other is the recipient of the collections.

Miss GRIMES. Does not the fact remain that we elect our State Treasurer and our Auditor General to take care of the finances of our State and that we should impose in them confidence?

Mr. STERLING. That is quite true, but neither of them are the Secretary of Highways, nor have anything to do with the highway program.

Miss GRIMES. Do they know anything about the money that goes to the Highway Department?

Mr. STERLING. I cannot answer for what either of them may know.

Miss GRIMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, my interrogation has failed to get the information that I have desired, and being a mere woman, and not being able to delve into the intricate figures that have been presented by the different speakers, I feel that I shall stand back of the assertion of the State Treasurer whom the people elected to safeguard the money in the treasury, when he said there is enough money to take care of the road program. I have had hundreds of letters, insistent letters, from people in my community asking me to vote against this gas tax bill. I shall listen to the voice of the people in this respect.

Mr. HOWE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't think that anything I may say will influence anyone's vote as to how they should feel about this measure. I was agreeably surprise though when I heard my good friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, admit that the Philadelphia delegation evidently have done the same as Esau did, sold their birthright for a mess of pottage, namely, sold out the automobile owners and drivers for $250,000

Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the House to page 2 of this bill. On page 2, in Section (c), the word "consumer" is defined. Not being an attorney, probably some of the learned men of the law can interpret this so that I will have a little better understanding. I said the Philadelphia automobile man owners and drivers, have sold out on this. It says in this section, "The word 'consumer' shall include any person, firm, copartnership, association or corporation who or which imports or causes to be imported into this Commonwealth liquid fuels," and so forth, defining the word "consumer", and goes over on page 5 and lays a fine on this consumer who does not make his report to the Auditor General, a fine of not less than fifty dollars or more than three hundred dollars. What are you fellows going to do with anyone who goes over into Ohio or New York. I would like to know if he comes under this provision of being fined fifty dollars, not less than fifty dollars or more than three hundred dollars. There is more to this bill than a four cent tax. That is what I want to call to the attention of the House. Again we go over to page 7 and we find the same consumer who has to make a statement of all the gas that he has brought into this Commonwealth. Now, if some of these learned gentlemen will explain to me if that does not touch the driver of the car who goes over into one of these other states, and is he liable to the fine of fifty dollars, not less than fifty dollars or more than three hundred, and if he is, then I am satisfied that I am wrong in my contention of this bill.

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, I wish to call your attention to the statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, in saying that he hoped the farmers would not be selfish enough to oppose this measure. In York County, where there is a tremendous volume of gas, and it is no exception, used in agriculture, and that never goes on the highways, those farmers have not asked for any exemption, but they are opposed to this four cent gasoline tax in the future because of the fact that it imposes an extra burden. I want to interrogate the gentleman to the extent of asking him whether he knows how a farmer who will have to pay anywhere from one hundred to two hundred dollars of gasoline tax that is consumed in the operation of his farm, whether he knows how much corn and wheat and oats a man has got to raise on his farm to make up that much profit to pay this tax. It has to be paid out of the profits, it cannot come out of anything else. It works a serious hardship. The constitutency back there, the farmers, are willing to go along on the three-cent tax, but are opposed to the four-cent tax, not because they are selfish, but because business will not bear the added burden. It is not a matter of selfishness, it is a matter of already paying the limit on this tax. I am very, very much afraid that these rural members will have to do more explaining back home to the farmers of Pennsylvania than they will be able to do if they don't vote this measure down.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will.

Mr. BARTON. If I understand the idea of the four cent tax, in order to clarify this in the minds of a great many members of this House, I would like to know what assurance you can give to the members of this House that this one cent that is imposed on the liquid fuel consumers of this Commonwealth will go toward carrying out the entire program that was passed by this House, I think last Monday night.

Mr. STERLING. If I were the Secretary of Highways, I could very effectively answer that question, but I have enough confidence in the integrity and the fidelity of this Secretary of Highways, as well as any subsequent Secretary of Highways, that he will not violate the obligations imposed upon him by the office which he holds.

Mr. BARTON. Will this one cent additional tax take care of this program from the standpoint of the entire nine bills that were passed by this House last Monday night?

Mr. STERLING. If that question is directed to me for answer, I must yield to my friend, Mr. Wheeler, from Forest.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Forest answer the interrogation of the gentleman from Fulton, Mr. Barton?

Mr. BARTON. I would like to know what assurance you could give this House that this one cent of additional tax imposed upon the consumer will take care of the entire road program as passed by this House last Monday night.

Mr. WHEELER. The gentleman is formed it will not. The revenue to be derived from the increase in license of the heavier duty trucks is also necessary.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, counting that additional revenue that is to be derived from the other sources will it take care of the program entirely?

Mr. WHEELER. The gentleman is informed that I honestly believe, and that belief is shared by the members of the subcommittee, of both the Committee on Public Roads and the Committee on Ways and Means, that it will take care of the program. The point in this: If we were working on this one cent tax as a makeshift measure, one cent for one year, as a makeshift measure, we might then properly contend that we would be imposing a burden which could not be taken care of in the future without additional revenue. Is that your question, and am I answering it?

Mr. STERLING. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Howe.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Howe, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOWE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STERLING. Will the gentleman from Allegheny follow me as I explain the provisions of the bill upon which he has thrown some doubt?

Mr. HOWE. With pleasure.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Howe has called the attention of the House to page 5, Section (f), a provision which reads as follows:

"Any dealer or consumer or any of his or its agents or employes violating any of the provisions" and these very next words are significant "of this section shall upon conviction thereof in a summary proceeding, before any magistrate, alderman or justice of the peace, be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than three hundred dollars, and in default of the payment of such fine and costs, shall be imprisoned for a term of not less than thirty days nor more than six months."

Now, this section under consideration applies first only to the duty of obtaining a certificate from the Department of Revenue, and then when the dealer or consumer ceases to either deal in or use or consume gasoline, the further obligation of relinquishing that certificate, and it is for failure either to obtain the certificate or upon ceasing to use or deal in, that that dealer or user is required to relinquish the certificate—failure to do that, and only then. Section (f) provides that that delinquency or that default imposes upon him the liability of summary conviction before a justice of the peace.

Mr. HOWE. Is the gentleman still interrogating me, or is he explaining the provisions of this bill?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will have to place his own interpretation upon the remarks.

Mr. HOWE. That is just what I asked for, some learned man in the House to give me some light on this particular question. On page 2 of this bill the word "consumer" is defined, and I would like to ask the learned gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, to explain this more clearly. It is not defined very clearly to a layman.

Mr. STERLING. I think a mere reading of that section explains it. I will be very glad to read it to the House, and if there is any doubt I will explain it further. The section reads as follows:

"The word "consumer" shall include any person, firm, co-partnership, association or corporation who or which imports or causes to be imported into this Commonwealth liquid fuels, as defined in this act for his or its own use, and also any person, firm, co-partnership, association or corporation who or which uses liquid fuels in this Commonwealth not purchased from dealers as defined in this act and on which no tax was collected by a dealer under the provisions of this act."

That is perfectly clear.

Mr. HOWE. Perfectly clear to Mr. Sterling, perhaps, and just the way I interpreted it is the way you have interpreted it, but I still cannot understand why a man, if he goes over into Jersey and gets a tankful of gas, is not in the consumer class. They apply that to the prohibition law.

Mr. DAVIDSON. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STERLING. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DAVIDSON. In section (c) on page 2, this word "user," if I understand it right, the word "user" means every Tom, Dick and Harry that uses gasoline.

Mr. STERLING. The word "user" means exactly what the word implies.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Then you turn over to page 7, in section 4, and you find there that every person or user of gasoline has to file a report on or before the fifteenth of each month as to how much gas he has used during the preceding. Therefore, it makes each one, each person in the State of Pennsylvania a bookkeeper for himself, he has got to file a report with the Revenue Department setting forth how much gas he has used in that month, and he has to swear it, and it costs him fifty cents, and that is an added expense on the people.

Mr. STERLING. Now, I am perfectly willing to stand here until tomorrow answering questions, but I don't think it is fair that I be called upon to answer questions that of themselves seem to be facetious. If my friend will turn again to section (c) on page 2, he will find there the definition of the word "consumer." A user under this act is a consumer, and returns are only required to be filed by those persons who import for their own, gasoline.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Davidson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Davidson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVIDSON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TALBOT. Who would be in better position to keep those books than a man himself?

Mr. DAVIDSON. Nobody that I know of.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act authorizing cities of the third class to appropriate money for the support and maintenance of airdromes or aviation landing fields situate either within or without the limitations of such city, but within the limitations of the county in which such city is located.

The SPEAKER. The bill is now re-referred to the Committee on Aeronautics.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests that the members be in their places promptly so that the afternoon session may not be unduly prolonged in order to accomodate the Press boys who have a social engagement this evening in which they are very much interested.

The Chair declares a recess until four o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 4.00 o'clock P. M. (Speaker Hess in the Chair.)

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1874, (Senate Bill No. 382), as follows:

An Act to amend sections nine and ten of article four and rules nine ten and twelve of article twelve of the act approved the second day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section nine of article four of the act approved the second day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 9 The owner operator or superintendent of any coal mine or colliery which is worked by shaft or slope shall provide and maintain a telephone or suitable appliance by or through which conversation can be held by and between persons at the bottom and at the top of the shaft or slope and also an efficient means of signaling from the bottom of such shaft or slope to the engineer in charge of the hoisting engine The owner operator or superintendent of every coal mine or colliery shall provide and maintain a telephone by or through which conversation can be had between persons on the outside of the mines and the principal centers of operations in the mines

Section 2 That section ten of article four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 Hand rails and efficient safety catches shall be attached to and a sufficient cover overhead shall be provided on every cage used for lowering or hoisting persons in any shaft The owner operator or superintendent of all mines shall see that the surface landing and all other landings of shafts are so far as practicable provided with gates controlled in such a fashion that they cannot be opened except when the shaft carriage is at that particular landing Such gates before being used shall be first approved by the mine inspector It shall be unlawful for any man employed as a footman at a shaft hoisting coal or other material to work at this occupation unless he has provided himself with a safety headgear or helmet of a design approved by the Department of Mines which headgear or helmet must be worn by him at all times while on duty

Section 3 That rule nine of article twelve of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Rule 9 [In every working approaching any place where there is likely to be an accumulation of explosive gases or in any working] In each part of all mines in which danger is imminent from explosive gases no light or fire other than a locked safety lamp or a locked safety lamp and electric lamp both of a type which shall be first approved by the Department of mines shall be allowed or used in such part When-ever safety lamps or electric lamps are required in any mine or part thereof they shall be the property of the owner of said mine and a competent person who shall be appointed for the purpose shall examine every safety lamp and electric lamp immediately before it is taken in to the workings for use and he shall ascertain [it to be] that all safety lamps are clean safe and securely locked and safety lamps and electric lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and in the case of safety lamps clean and securely locked unless permission be first given by the mine foreman to have the safety lamps used unlocked

Section 4 That rule ten of article twelve of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Rule 10 No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any mine where locked safety lamps or electric lamps are used [No lucifer matches or any other apparatus for striking light shall be taken into said mine or parts thereof] It shall be unlawful for any person or persons working in a mine or portion of a mine which is worked by locked safety lamps or locked safety lamps and electric lamps to carry into the mine matches smokers articles or any other material or article which may cause fire And to prevent such articles being carried into a dangerous mine or section thereof the mine foreman when he sees fit shall cause a search of the men for such articles

Section 5 That rule twelve or article twelve of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

The mine foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine every working day [at least once every alternate day] while the men of such place are or should be at work and shall direct that each and every working place is properly secured by props or timber and that safety in all respects is assured by directing that all loose coal or rock shall be pulled down or secured and that no person shall be permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it secure Providing however if the mine is idle forty-eight hours or more the mine foreman or his assistant shall examine every working place the day before operations are resumed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative,

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1871, (Senate Bill No 379), as follows:

An Act to amend paragraph two section nine article four and paragraph three section fourteen article four of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That paragraph two section nine article four of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" which was amended by section one of the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-five) entitled "An act to amend paragraph two section nine article four paragraph three section fourteen article four and sections one and three of article ten of an act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and fifty-six) entitled 'An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith'" is hereby further amended to read as follows

In such portions of a dry and dusty mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall direct and see that the rooms and entries are moistened by water or other efficient means as often as necessary to keep the dust in damp condition and he shall direct and see that the dust is loaded and taken out of the mine as often as necessary [Provided however That the above provisions shall not prohibit the substitution for water of any other substance which will render coal dust on the sides bottom and timbers inert to explosibility]

In lieu of the above provisions rock dust may be substituted for or used in conjunction with water under the following conditions The rock dust to be used shall be pulverized so that one hundred per cent will pass through a sieve having twenty meshes per lineal inch and fifty per cent or more will pass through a sieve having two hundred meshes per lineal inch It shall not contain more than five per cent combustible matter nor more than twenty-five per cent of quartz or free silica particles and not be unduly absorbent of moisture Preference shall be given to the lighter colored rock dust

The rock dusting shall be done with such regularity and frequency that all surfaces required to be rock dusted shall be kept in such a condition that the incombustible content of the adhering dust shall not be less than fifty-five per cent

The rock dust shall be distributed on top bottom and sides of all main haulages and all active entries to the last open cut-through and to a distance of not less than twenty feet in all active rooms and pillars workings and in all returns airways where hauling or traveling is done

In other places in which no hauling is done the rock dust maybe distributed by the air current or other means provided be distributed by the air current or other means provided that the amount specified in this act is distributed or such places may be protected by rock dust barriers which shall be subject to the approval of the mine inspectors as to design and location When such barriers are installed the amount of rock dust used shall be at least one hundred (100) pounds per square foot of average cross section of entry at the barrier zone The barriers shall be maintained at all times in workable condition and inspected monthly and a report of such inspection showing the condition of the barrier shall be entered on the space provided for such purpose in the book furnished by the Department of Mines for recording the rock dust samples

The superintendent shall see that a sufficient number of samples of dust are gathered each month from the road roof rib and timbers on each split of air and tested to determine if any part of the mine required redusting and a record shall be kept in a book provided for that purpose showing the location at which samples have been taken and the results of the analyses or tests The book shall be furnished by the Department of Mines in the same manner as is provided for the record books of the mine officials When the working faces of entries airways rooms and other working places are kept damp by watering as provided in this article the outbve portions of such places when required shall be treated with rock dust or water

If in the judgment of the Mine Inspector of the district any mine or portion of a mine is of such a dry and dusty nature as to cause a hazard from coal dust he shall direct that the said mine or portion of a mine be rock dusted or watered as provided in this article However should the operator superintendent or mine foreman of any mine be dissatisfied with the decision of the mine inspector in regard to the watering or rock dusting or in regard to rock dust barriers of any mine or portion of a mine it shall be the duty of the dissatisfied person to appeal from such decision to the Secretary of Mines who shall at once direct two or more of the other inspectors to accompany promptly the inspector of the district to make further examination into the matter in dispute If the said inspectors shall agree with the decision of the inspector of the district their decision shall be final unless the dissatisfied person shall within seven days of the receipt of the decision of the committee of inspectors appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which said mine is situated whereupon the court or the judges appoint a commission of five persons as required by article ten of this act and thereafter the proceedings had shall be as prescribed by sections one and two of said article ten

Section 2 That paragraph three section fourteen article four of said act which was amended by section two of said amending act is hereby further amended to read as follows

No shot-firer or any person shall fire a shot in any working place in any mine if his safety lamp can detect explosive gas at the roof In gaseous dusty mines in which approved locked safety lamps are used he shall fire no holes unless the entries and rooms which are dry and dusty are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired unless the dust is rendered inert to explosibility by [some other means] rock dust Provided however That in all mines wherein the coal is being blasted from the solid the mine foreman shall direct and see that the provisions of this section are fully complied with

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. REIDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 5 ,lines 7 to 19, both inclusive, by underscoring the entire said lines.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 311, entitled:

An Act providing for the pensioning of certain persons, residents of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, who have been or shall be soldiers, sailors, marines, or members of the enlisted nurse corps, designated as "blind veterans;" defining the term "blind veteran;" imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General; imposing penalties for violation thereof making an appropriation and repealing inconsistent legislation.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 763, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Spencer Hospital, Meadville, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House I am the last man in this House who would attempt to violate the provisions of the Constitution. There has been certain literature sent out about certain hospitals that were supposed to be sectarian. I wish to call your attention to the fact that I have personally investigated this hospital as well as other hospitals during the past year to satisfy myself as to whether or not these hospitals are sectarian or non-sectarian. I state to you now that some time during the month of October of last year I made a personal visit to Spencer Hospital at Meadeville, I investigated the hospital from top to bottom and I found it absolutely non-sectarian, although in charge of those good sisters who were administering mercy to those patients that were confined in that hospital. I went further and I secured an opinion from the Auditor General, who has these matters under his control, and I have a communication from the Auditor General in which he states, and I wish to have it read into the record, under date of February 19, 1929:

"My dear Mr. Stadtlander: The Auditor General's Department has considered the Spencer Hospital, Meadeville, Pa., and it has found it non-sectarian." I ask you to please remember that these institutions are non-sectarian, and I pray that you pass this bill.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HERMANSEN. I want to know if this House passes an appropriation bill contrary to the Constitution if it goes through. Now, if it is unconstitutional to appropriate to sectarian institutions then how can we appropriate to them. If we vote for these bills and we make a mistake, then I think it is up to the Governor to veto the bill. Now, we understand this is not a sectarian institution and for that reason we vote for it. Well now, we cannot help that.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Luzerne heard the assurances as made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have received literature relative to this institution and I took the matter up with the Auditor General who is the only authority I know of whom I can approach with the question, and under date of March 27, he writes me as follows: "The following institutions were held by Auditor General Lewis to be non-sectarian and have since that time been receiving appropriations." He lists St. Francis Hospital of Pittsburgh, the Spencer Hospital of Meadeville, which is the bill now under consideration together with St. Johns General Hospital at Pittsburgh and the Mercy Hospital at Wilkes-Barre.

I would like to say too for the information of the House that if these bills are passed they must then be passed upon by the Attorney General before they are approved by the Governor. I approached the Attorney General with this question and was advised that no opinion was rendered by that department on a question that was not before them. Therefore, I turned to the Auditor General, which is as I say the only authority to whom we can go for information upon the subject, and relying upon the opinion which he gives to me, the appropriation committee reported this bill out

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, I should think the Governor's budget would answer the question as to the constitutionality of this bill, when it is shown that moneys have been appropriated to this institution since 1923.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I might say this relative to this particular bill. There were certain institutions in the state of Pennsylvania that are giving out information that this is a sectarian institution, Therefore, it is up to the members of this House to make a decision upon these particular bills. If they are wrong why the other fellow is right; if the other fellow is wrong they are right. So how are you going to pass your decision; upon what are you basing your decision in voting upon this bill. I have communications in my possession that these are absolutely sectarian institutions, and it is unconstitutional to pass bills of this character and still comply with the provisions of the Constitution.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we tried to comply with the suggestion of the gentleman who last spoke by going to the only constitutional authority that I know of to go to for a decision upon this question, namely, the Auditor General. If there is a better authority than that, I should be glad to know what it is.

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker, I might state to Mr. Goodnough that if he were a candidate for election in certain sections of the state, they would bring out this proposition against him in a campaign.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I cannot see what difference it can make. Our vote would only be expressing our conviction, and if it were enacted and it were then found unconstitutional it could do no harm. Why not go ahead and take the vote and then it can be submitted to the Attorney General, and if it be unconstitutional it has done no harm. I can see nothing in the vote taken here this afternoon other than merely an expression of our convictions. I cannot see that any one in this House would be harmed for a moment.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 783, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Pittsburgh Hospital Association, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. Speaker and members of the House in regard to the bill now under consideration, making an appropriation to the Pittsburgh Hospital Association, I have the following communication from the Auditor General relative to this Association. Under date of March 27, he says: "The Pittsburgh Hospital Association was declared sectarian at the same time by Auditor General Lewis, but was restored to an appropriation basis, or declared non-sectarian by Auditor General Martin after the Hospital Association had submitted evidence satisfactory to the Auditor General that the institution is no longer sectarian. It is now receiving an appropriation."

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. PURUCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

Mr. HAGMAIER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 784, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Maternity Hospital, in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1624, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor to establish construct and maintain roads parallel to existing State highways in order to relieve traffic congestion providing certain conditions and restrictions for the assessment and payment of damages for property taken thereby and providing that such highways when constructed shall become a part of the system of State highways of the Commonwealth

WHEREAS In certain sections of the Commonwealth the volume of traffic has increased to the point where the existing State highways as constructed are not of sufficient width to provide for the safe and convenient passage of such traffic and

WHEREAS The present State highways are in such condition that it would not be economical to relocate and abandon the same and

WHEREAS The expense of condemning private property along and adjacent to the present highway for the purpose of widening said highway in its present location would be excessive therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor is authorized to take over existing public roads parallel to State highways between any or all of the points named in the line or route of such State highway and construct and maintain the same according to the standards of the Department for the construction and maintenance of State highways

Section 2 The Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor is hereby authorized in the establishment of such parallel highway as provided in section one hereof to relocate or change the lines and widths thereof or construct and improve such parallel route wholely or in part on a new alignment where such relocation and construction would eliminate dangerous grades or turns or decrease the cost of construction or maintenance

Section 3 Such parallel route when taken over by the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor as hereinbefore provided shall become a part of the system of State highways of the Commonwealth and any moneys appropriated to the Department of Highways for the construction and/or maintenance of State highways shall be available for the construction and maintenance of such roads

Section 4 Any damages sustained by any property owner in connection with the construction change of width or relocation of such road shall be ascertained in the same manner as now provided for the ascertainment of damages in connection with the relocation construction and maintenance of State highways and when so ascertained such damages shall be paid by the county

Section 5 The Department of Highways shall have the same supervision and authority over such parallel roads as is now or hereafter conferred upon the said Department with reference to State highways

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1816, as follows:

An Act to amend sections two hundred and sixteen and two hundred and twenty-two of the act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred sixty-two) entitled "An act concerning poor relief and the creation and government of poor districts and the administration of the same in all counties of the Commonwealth except in counties of the first and second class and revising amending consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" by authorizing county commissioners to levy a tax or issue bonds for the purpose of acquiring lands and erecting and furnishing buildings for poor purposes

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1941, entitled:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" by modifying the procedure for the collection of the tax on the stock of banks and savings institutions

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" as amended by the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and ninety-seven) entitled "An act to amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two) entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' eliminating from said act the provisions for the taxation of bank stock on the par value thereof" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act every bank or savings institution having capital stock incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth or under any law of the United States and located within this Commonwealth shall on or before the twentieth day of June in each and every year make to the [Auditor General] Department of Revenue a report in writing verified [by the oath or affirmation of the present cashier or treasurer] as required by law setting forth the full number of shares of the capital stock subscribed as of the date of the report for or issued by such bank or savings institution and the actual value thereof which shall be ascertained as [hereinbefore] hereafter provided but any such bank or savings institution which makes its report and pays its tax prior to March first of any year may make such report as of December thirty-first preceding [whereupon it] It shall be the duty of the [Auditor General] Department of Revenue to assess such shares for taxation at the same rate as that imposed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of the State that is to say at the rate of four mills upon each dollar of the actual value thereof the actual value of each share of stock to be ascertained and fixed by adding together the amount of capital stock paid in the surplus and undivided profits and dividing this amount by the number of shares [The Auditor General shall have the power and it shall be his duty in case he shall not be satisfied with the correctness of the report as made by the officers of any bank or savings institution to summon the officers of said bank or savings institution to appear before him upon notice to do so on a day to be fixed by him and to bring with them the books of said bank or savings institution for his examination and he shall have the right to have further evidence to satisfy himself as to the correctness of the report made to him on the question of the value of the shares of stock of such bank or savings institution according to the rule hereinbefore stated After the Auditor General shall have fixed the value of the shares of stock in any bank or savings institution by the method hereinbefore provided and settled an account according to law he shall thereupon transmit to the president cashier or treasurer of such bank or savings institution a copy of such settlement showing the valuation and assessement so made by him and the amount of tax due the Commonwealth on all such shares And it shall be the duty of the president cashier or treasurer of any such bank or savings institution immediately upon the receipt of said settlement to post the same in a conspicuous place in such bank or savings institution so as to give notice to the shareholders of such valuation and it shall be the duty of the Auditor General to hear any shareholder upon the subject of the valuation of such shares of stock at the Auditor General's office within a period of thirty days from the date of said settlement] It shall be the duty of every bank or savings institution within a period of [forty] sixty days after the date of such settlement by the [Auditor General] Department of Revenue at its option to pay the amount of said tax to the State Treasurer through the Department of Revenue from its general fund or collect the same from its shareholders and pay it over to the State Treasurer through the Department of Revenue Provided [That if any such bank or savings institution shall fail or refuse to make such report or to pay such tax at the time herein specified or shall make any false statement in such report or shall fail or refuse by its officers to appear before the Auditor General upon notice as aforesaid or shall fail or refuse to produce its books for examination when required to do so by the Auditor General he shall after having ascertained the actual value of each share of the capital stock of such bank or savings institution from the best information he can obtain add thereto fifty per centum as a penalty assess the tax as aforesaid and proceed according to law to collect the same from such bank or savings institution Provided further That if the president cashier or treasurer of any such bank or savings institution shall neglect or refuse to post the copy of the settlement in a conspicuous place in such bank or savings institution immediately upon the receipt of the same so as to give notice to the shareholders such president cashier or treasurer shall be adjudged to be in default and as a penalty for such default such bank or savings institution shall be responsible to the Commonwealth for the amount of the tax assessed against the shareholders of such bank or savings institution And provided further] That in case any bank or savings institution having capital stock incorporated under the law of this State or of the United States shall collect annually from the shareholders thereof said tax of four mills on the dollar upon the actual value of all the shares of stock of said bank or savings institution according to the rule hereinbefore stated that have been subscribed for or issued and pay the same into the State And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KUNKEL. Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the members of the Senate to a thought in connection with this bill, if I am permitted so to do.

On page two the bill makes provision for the changing of highways, and I will read beginning with line one on that page: "the expenses of the Commonwealth in the construction or maintenance and repair thereof would be too great or unreasonable and could be materially reduced or lessened by a divergence from the existing road the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor and Commissioners of the proper County may establish the width or lines of any such State highway in a borough before or after construction reconstruction or improvement of the same not however exceeding the maximum width fixed by law for public roads"

I desire also to read Section 2, which is as follows:

"Section 2 Whenever the Secretary of Highways shall establish the width or lines of any such State highway within a borough he shall cause a description and plan thereof to be made showing the said line of State highway and the established width thereof and shall attach thereto his acknowledgment Whereupon such description plan and acknowledgment shall be recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds of the proper county in the book kept for such purposes by the Recorder of Deeds"

Now, this bill gives no borough,—the borough authorities,—no power whatever to prevent, or acquiesce in, or have anything to say in regard to any change of the roads that the Secretary of Highways and County Commissioners might want to establish; and the objection, to my mind, is that no matter when this is done, and the highway may not be constructed for years, nothing may be done for years—and in the meantime all the property that might be affected by the width-changing by reason of this certificate has a blot on its title, it is interfered with, it cannot very well be sold. There may be no damages actually incurred, but it will be a serious blot on the properties affected by it. For that reason I think the bill is not good.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. HUFFMAN, Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1022 on final passage, postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 286) entitled "An act to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors by forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry, the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith."

Mr. LANIUS, Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1022, as follows:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty-six) entitled "An ac to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors By forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section seven of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred eighty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors By forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 7 No male minor under twelve years of age and no female minor shall distribute sell expose or offer for sale any newspaper magazine periodical or other publication or any article of merchandise of any sort in any street or public place No male minor under fourteen years of age and no female minor shall be suffered employed or permitted to work at any time as a scavenger bootblack or in any other trade or occupation performed in any street or public place No male minor under sixteen years of age and no female minor shall engage in any occupation mentioned in this section except in the occupation of distributing or delivering newspapers before six o'clock in the morning or after eight o'clock in the evening of any day

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President and members of the Senate, this is a bill to amend the child labor law, which prohibits children from delivering newspapers earlier than six a. m. and later than eight p. m. This has been the law for about fourteen years, I think it is, and there has been no complaint. I was a member of the original Child Labor Commission of Philadelphia, and we have had no complaints against this provision. The only case I have heard of was in York, where there was a boy of 13 employed before six in the morning distributing newspapers.

I therefore ask the Senate to vote "no" on this bill, rather than upset the child labor law which has been running for these years with no complaints from the association whatever.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, yes, certainly.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, who has charge of the enforcement of the present law that has been operating so successfully.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it is in the Department of Welfare.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I would ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, if he has any knowledge, with the sponsors of this bill, in connection with any boys and girls selling newspapers in different cities, after midnight.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I know that, like all laws, there are some violations of it.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I wish to convey to the Senate the information that in the City of Pittsburgh it is a known, unholy custom for school children to distribute what we call the "bull-dog" edition of our newspapers. They begin circulation of the morning papers at 8.30 at night, and after theater hours these boys stand at the entrance or the exits of the theatres peddling their wares, some of their papers having already been sold—sometimes as often as two or three times—and then they beg from the patrons of the theatres to help them out because of their poor condition, their poverty.

It is an absolute crime, in connection with the extraordinary work on behalf of the circulation of the different newspapers, to have those children in the highways at all hours of the night, not only distributing the bull-dog edition of the morning paper, but also the last edition of the evening paper; and there should be some law, or some investigation and some insistence on positive execution of the law, to protect the children of the different cities from being up all hours of the night and being made beggars instead of merchants trying to make a few pennies in the early part of the evening

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. President, I might venture to speak on this measure, inasmuch as the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, has made the statement that the only complaint came from York. I wish to state that the situation is just as declared by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie. It is in an endeavor to correct this situation,—putting clearly and positively on the statute books just what can be done, and providing the means for its enforcement,—that this bill is here.

Now, the morning papers,—and there are many in Pennsylvania—are a medium of communication; and for a boy to be on the streets with his papers under his arm at 6 a. m. or 5.30, is certainly not far afield from what they are doing today in other lines of activity.

I am not here to relate my own experience, but it is the experience of many men, and therefore it may be perfectly proper to refer to it. I sold newspapers on the street when I was nine years old. I carried a route, and I arose at four o'clock in the morning. I did that for years, until I graduated to the position of cub reporter; and I will match my morals, I will match my constitution, physical and mental, with that of any man in this Senate.

Gentlemen, it never harmed me. It is not a hardship on the child, but it places this big profession, this news-carrying medium, just exactly where it should be. I have no quarrel with those who think that five o'clock in the morning is too early to get up. I live in the country, I live out on the farm, and it is not a strange thing for me to be out of bed and have my breakfast long before five o'clock; but I do want to inform the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, that the United States Congress passed last year a bill providing that routes may be carried by children at the age of ten—which is even two years under this limit.

Now then, this is twelve years of age, and they would tell us that it is a hardship that it is wrong for a boy to get up in the morning at five o'clock and to carry a set route, deliver newspapers on the street, because he might injure his constitution. I want to say to you that I will match the health of newsboys in this State with that of boys of any other class; and I will take men out of Pennsylvania public life, among the best officials in the country, and I will show you that many of them carried newspapers when they were boys and delivered them on the streets early in the morning and late at night.

I tell you, gentlemen, I have been active in welfare and labor legislation; I have a record for labor that I am not ashamed of, and defy any man to point a finger at me and tell me I am biased on this question. I have no time or patience for those who object to legislation merely for the purpose of furthering some actviity in which they are interested, who somewhere, somehow, want to start something.

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Huffman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Huffman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, with pleasure

Mr. WEINGARTNER. Mr. President, this discussion puts me at sea. I would like to know what this bill does, and whether the speeches are meant for the bill or against it.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, the bill reduces the age, at which boys may sell newspapers, from 16 to 12 years. That is the primary thing.

Mr. President, I do not want to intefere with welfare conditions in Pennsylvania. Along with the Senator from York, Mr. Lanius, I helped to put this labor legislation on the statute books; but times have changed; you cannot get a 16-year-old boy to sell newspapers any more, he has gone through high school and he is out doing something else; he probably has two or three girls on the string, and has a hip pocket. It is the boy of twelve, thirteen and fourteen who is selling newspapers in Pennsylvania to-day, and these papers are needed, and the boys need the work. There is a little sentiment here by some welfare people, most of whom are not practical in life, most of whom do not make their own living; and I am not only pleading that the newspapers have the right to sell these newspapers and to employ the boys, but I want to give the boys a chance to work, the boys who sell newspapers, in this employment. I doubt whether there is a man on the floor who can point to anyone suffering any injury,—any boy suffering any injury through sellings newspapers. The boy who makes a success at selling newspapers at 12 or 13 or 14,—he has the capabilities of taking care of himself; and it seems to me it comes with poor grace from these people who vote for things that come before this body, to oppose this little bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, according to my information the case in York was of a boy of 13, who was employed at four o'clock in the morning to distribute newspapers.

I would also like to inform the President that my remarks were directed against the bill.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I would say a word more in order to clear the atmosphere. So far as the age is concerned, my objection to the bill is not that it permits boys at the age of 12 to work long hours during the day, it is the night hours,—the hours after eight or nine or ten o'clock, when no person wants to buy a newspaper. Every person who reads a newspaper has had his newspaper for several hours before that time. It is, these boys around the street, as I said a moment ago, that are educated in the down town parts of any city,—every city. They become beggars, they are solicitors of alms of people going to and from the theatre and of travelers on the highways, at 12 years of age. It matters not to me about the strength they lose, it is the hours they are kept out at night. The nine o'clock child getting up at four o'clock in the morning to deliver newspapers to regular customers is a different subject. It is a subject of having boys out on the street, on the highways and byways,—unkempt and unfed and begging alms,—beggars; and that is the qualification of life that I do not want for any person in my neighborhood. Therefore, I oppose the bill.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I do not want any member here to feel that I have any personal interest in this bill because I am connected with a newspaper. My newspaper is an afternoon newspaper, and there is no necessity for boys working at night. But I am in favor of this bill—I can see no harm in permitting boys to sell newspapers at night. And, to answer the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, the police have plenty of power and plenty of law to take boys off the street at night. There is no large city in which there is not a curfew law; and there is no reason why the boys cannot be taken off the street at night under the present police power.

Now, I will tell you what brought this bill about. I was asked to present a bill in this Senate that had in it a provision that would require the enforcement of the Child Labor Law to be placed in the hands of the school boards of the different districts; and if they failed to enforce the law, the State appropriation would be withheld from that school district; and the people who are interested in this bill thought that the only safe way to permit boys to sell newspapers was to exonerate them from this act.

I want to say to you, as a person experienced in handling boys that sell newspapers, that those boys—many of them—are not only supporting themselves, but are helping to support their families; but if you will look over the history of this great nation of ours you will find that many of the finest men, many of the men who have reached the highest positions in the government of our State and nation, were newsboys and a good many of them worked as early in life as the age of twelve years,—and I don't see anything wrong with this bill.

I am always in favor of protecting the children, and I think I have voted, probably, for as much Child Labor Law as any man in this Senate, during my experience; and I think this is a good bill.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, yes.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, if this bill becomes a law, what authority have the police to arrest a boy at that time.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, the police power.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, in other words, they are violating this bill also.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I do not see why. In what way?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, if this bill becomes a law it will provide that a boy of twelve years of age may sell newspapers.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I made that remark in answer to the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Leslie, who said the boys were becoming beggars.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, what right have the police to interfere with a boy twelve years of age from selling newspapers, if this bill becomes a law?

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, the same power they have now if the boy is on the street or stays on the street to an unreasonable hour at night.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, then why write this bill into the law?

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, just so they can enforce the statute on the books now and prevent a boy of that age from selling newspapers after eight o'clock at night.

And the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?
